Sikeston police cited for reducing crime in 1973

The police department has been given a merit award by the National Crime Prevention Foundation of Washington, D. C., for achieving a reduction in reported crime in 1973.

The award is presented when a city obtains a reduction in one or more areas of crime. Sikeston had reductions in four areas in 1973.

Reductions in 1973 were in the areas of armed robbery, felonious assault, burglary and thefts of less than $50. There was an overall decrease of 4.4 per cent in crimes reported in Sikeston.

Police Chief Leon Culp said he is proud of the department for earning the award, which is Sikeston's first.

The award reads, "In recognition of your effective prevention effort that has resulted in lower incidence rate in one or more areas of crime, proving that impartial, but strick law enforcement in your community can save life and property as well as deter acts of crime and violence against our citizens."

Nixon asks foreign aid totaling $5 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today asked Congress for $5.18 billion in foreign aid money, including $250 million to help Egypt clear the Suez Canal, repair war damage in adjacent cities and restore trade with the United States.

At the same time, Nixon asked for $350 million in military support for Israel and $207.5 million for Jordan.

He said the United States "can and should play a constructive role in securing a just and durable peace in the Middle East by facilitating increased understanding between the Arab nations and Israel ..."

The President also requested $939.8 million to assist South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos "in their efforts to shift their economies from war to peace and to accelerate the reconstitution of their societies."

All the money, including a special $100 million Mideast fund for peacekeeping forces, refugee aid and development projects, would be for the fiscal year tat begins July 1.

Congress' response is uncertain, although one member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has said he is opposed "to reverting again to that old habit of trying to outbid the Soviet Union in securing Egypt's friendship."

Nixon's request for Egypt accelerates the fast-building change in relations between the two countries.

The two countries restored full diplomatic contacts last week after a 6½ year break and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Anwar Sadat of Egypt for Arab support in working out settlements with Israel.

On Sunday he begins his fifth tour of the region since the Arab-Israeli war last October, seeking a disengagement between Israeli and Syrian forces in the Golan Heights.

"The hope for a lasting solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute is stronger today than at any time in the previous quarter century," Nixon told Congress in proposing a special assistance program for the Middle East.

"American diplomatic initiatives have helped create the conditions necessary for an end to conflict and violence. While our diplomatic efforts must and will continue, there is already much that can be done to supplement and consolidate what has been achieved so far," he said.

While Israel and Jordan would get military aid, Egypt's $250 million would be entirely economic.

In Indochina, Nixon said, U.S. aid "is no less crucial" to achieve a peace that "pects our interests and reflects our past involvement" in the area.

Nixon said he was seeking a boost in economic aid for Indochina from the $450 million appropriated by Congress for this year in order to "permit the development of viable, selfsupporting economies" that will need reduced U.S. aid a few years from now.

South Vietnam, he said, faces an unusually difficult task rebuilding its economy and caring for its war-torn population, including the resettlement of more than one million refugees and displaced persons.

In Laos, he said, a peaceful political solution is now in motion, but there are remaining problems of resettling refugees and establishing a working economy.

Nixon also proposed repeal of a provision under current law prohibiting U.S. aid to Egypt unless the President convinces Congress that the aid is in the national interest.

Some $34 million has gone to Cairo over the last two years despite the restriction.

Police plan bike safety campaign

The police department will begin another bicycle safety drive in May to educate children and adults on the proper way to operate a bicycle.

May is National Bicycle Safety Month.

In 1973 six persons were reported injured in bicycle accidents in Sikeston, police said. All were children under 14 years old.

Police estimate that there are about 5,000 bicycles in Sikeston. Bicycle dealers here have reported their sales more than doubled this year, police said.

Besides safety measures, the police will show children ways to prevent the theft of their bicycles. Last year 102 bicycles were reported stolen. July produced the most thefts, with 27 bikes being taken. Some of the bikes taken in 1973 were recovered by police.

The department has a voluntary registration program which helps identify recovered bicycles, if the serial numbers are on file. There are currently 500 bikes on file.

Truck falls through bridge

Larry Sloan, the driver of this Sikeston Concrete Products Co. truck, probably isn't a believer in the adage of "the third time's a charm," after his truck fell through a wooden bridge south of Parma Tuesday morning at 8:30. Two other company trucks had crossed the structure with materials to pour a floor for a steel building before Solan's vehicle failed to make it across.

Four petitions for dissolution of marriage were approved.

Marriages ordered dissolved include Nellie Ann Silman of Marston and Robert Junior Silman; Jack Edward Tisher and Patsy S. Tisher of New Madrid; Shirley A. McArthur and Juanita McArthur; and Virginia Lee House of Portageville and Luther Harold House Jr., with Mrs. House awarded custody of two children, subject to reasonable visitation rights for House, who was ordered to pay $30 per week per child for support.

St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co. was granted $2,531.11 judgment in a similar case against Deane.

By stipulation and agreement, a change of venue order on April 9 transferring a felonious stealing charge against Dennis Wilson of Sikeston to Scott County was set aside and the case was transferred to Pemiscot County.

Wilson is accused of stealing automobile parts on Oct. 4, 1973, which the Scott County sheriff's department had stored as evidence in a case against him pending in Scott County.

Dashing thief grabs cigars

A young man, about 20 years old, reportedly dashed into Gun Smoke Shop, 521 Greer St., about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday and dashed back outside with two or three cigars.

Manager Mike Fansler told police he was in the back of the store when the youth came in, grabbed the cigars and ran outside. The cigars were valued at 35 cents each.

Fansler told police he later found four cigars outside behind the store, but police did not say if these were the cigars the youth took.

Prairie man seriously hurt

An East Prairie man was seriously injured and three persons received lesser injuries in four area traffic accidents Tuesday and early today, according to the highway patrol.

Frankie Eugene Davenport, 23, suffered serious injuries at 1 a.m. today when his car ran off Highway 61 three miles south of Sikeston at a high rate of speed and struck a utility pole.

He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Timothy A. Machen, 16, of Bernie was injured at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday two miles west of Bernie on Route U, when his westbound pickup sideswiped another pickup parked on the shoulder of the road and occupied by Cletus C. Brown, 72, of Bernie.

Machen was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff for treatment of minor injuries.

Bloyce Valentine, 23, of Gulfport, Miss., was injured at 10 a.m. Tuesday six miles south of Hayti on Highway 61 when the northbound car in which he was riding struck another northbound car driven by Quentin Reed, 54, of Sikeston.

The patrol said Reed attempted to make a left turn from the east shoulder and pulled into the path of a car driven by Conrad Tolby, 19, of Gulfport.

Valentine was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Natural gas curtailments lifted

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Natural gas curtailments imposed last winter on municipal power plants and larger industries have been lifted, according to John H. Germain, Arkansas- Missouri Power Co. vice president in charge of gas operations.

However, Germain warned today that even stricter curtailments can be expected next winter because of short natural gas supplies.

Germain made the announcement in a letter mailed to the customers whose service had been curtailed and to its Missouri subsidiary, Associated Natural Gas Co.

The curtailment release, he said, is effective until Aug. 31, the date the company's gas supply year ends.

Germain said a moderate winter, and customer cooperation in conserving fuel, were the reasons for the lifting of the curtailments.

"The winter was the second mildest in the past 10 years," he said, "and in terms of heating requiremtnts, 14 per cent below average."

"The response to our plea for conservation was little short of amazing. It appears that gas used for heating homes and small businesses was 10 per cent below the normal pattern."

Because of that, he said, "we now find we have more gas available for the period from now to Aug. 31 than could have been anticipated. There may not be sufficient gas to operate our own power plant as much as we'd like to, but our studies indicate that our customers may expect to operate to Aug. 31 of this year without further curtailment to them."

"We certainly are not advocating any waste," Germain said, "but each customer may take his normal requirement without fear of being penalized."

Germain said the company is waiving the penalty provision of its tariff for the gas supply year ending Aug. 31.

He said Ark-Mo's tariff calls for a penalty to be imposed on customers who exceed their annual gas entitlement. The penalty, he said, is strictly a tool to enforce curtailments as they may be required.

"It is not a device to increase earnings," Germain said.

Annual gas entitlements form the company's pipeline suppliers expire Aug. 31, he said.

"Unfortunately, there is every indication that curtailments in our supply will be greater," Germain said.

"It appears that, beginning Sept. 1, it will be necessary to impose 100 per cent curtailment on all municipal power plants and a partial curtailment of the area's largest industries, a total of about 14 firms," he said.

"The weather, curtailments in our pipeline supplies and the effectiveness of conservation are the factors that will affect our ability to supply industry's full needs next year," Germain said.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

DID WE LEARN ANYTHING?

America is just now coming out of a severe gasoline shortage.

The lines at the service stations have disappeared. The restrictions on the hours the stations may sell gas have been lifted, and you can get enough gas to go about anywhere you want to in the United States.

The one big change in the picture is that fuel costs more now and there are indications that the price will rise still higher in the future.

We never did get down to the ultimate desperation of gas rationing, with coupons and all its ills, but we did fumble through a period of fuel allocation which is a cousin to rationing. Allocations were handled with the usual governmental boo-boos and are now finally being raised to sensible levels, only because more fuel is available.

The real individual who saved the day, however, was the patriotic American who formed car pools, used public transportation, cut out much of his pleasure driving, and cut down on the use of fuel and electricity in his home and office.

The government introduced daylight saving time on a national basis, which didn't save enough fuel to help any, and set the speed limit at 55 miles per hour.

Cutting back the speed limit caused hardship to truckers but it did save some gas and it did save lives and cut down on accidents.

At the same time the American people were struggling with the gas shortage, they also had to fight a food shortage. To meet this problem they changed their eating habits and began to raise their own food.

With these examples fresh in our minds, the big question is whether the American people learned that we cannot sustain our standard of living if we keep on wasting our natural resources. And, have we learned that governmental controls can never take the place of good common sense exercised by the citizens of the United States?

We sincerely hope we have learned these two lessons so well that our economy will be given a chance to return to the healthy normal operation of the free enterprise system.

LAWN WATERING ECONOMY

By the time you are seventy years old, if you're an average American, you will have used 26 million tons of water. Along with all our other energy problems, the diminishing quantity and quality of water is becoming an increasing concern.

Because all the products with which they work depend on a proper use of water, the people of the American Association of Nurserymen have a great interst in providing practical instructions for its best application and preservation.

Most people are more likely to overwater their trees, plants, shrubs, and grass than to provide insufficient moisture. The people of the nursery industry advocate thorough watering when it is needed, rather than frequent limited watering. This is much better for the plant, less costly, too — and saves water. The simplest way to tell when water is needed is to examine the soil at a depth of several inches. If it seems dry at that point, put on water. If it is even slightly moist, wait.

The people of the nursery industry make another point. Water from your property travels eventually, in one way or another, to our rivers and streams and carries along with it soil and sediment from your land to add to the water problem. You can prevent his from happening by planting grass or attractive groundcovers on any sloping area from which water will be running off.

If our water is an endangered resource, as the ecologists say, steps such as these taken by every individual will be a long-term investment.

HOW TO BE LATE ON TIME

With an assist from the gasoline shortage, Amtrak, the national railroad passenger system, racked up a 28 per cent gain in patronage in January over the same month a year ago. The increase was reflected in all parts of the country as a total of 1,423,000 people took the train.

Amtrak also reports a much improved on-time performance record. Unfortunately, as the United Transportation Union points out in a recent newsletter, in this case all that glitters is not exactly what it appears to be.

A train is now counted "on time" if it reaches its ultimate destination within five minutes for every 100 miles of operation. For example, a train traveling 600 miles can come in 30 minutes after scheduled arrival time and still be considered "on time."

Under the previous system, a train was considered late if it arrived more than six minutes behind schedule.

But better late than never, as they say. These days, any train is better than no train at all. And the system does seem to be improving.

COMPULSORY UNIONISM ON TRIAL

William Turnblazer, a former high- ranking mine workers union official with admitted close ties to the bloody 1969 murder of Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, recently testified during the trial of former union president "Tony" Boyle that Boyle personally ordered Yablonski's slaying.

"We're in a fight. We've got to kill Yablonski, take care of him," Turnblazer quoted Boyle as saying during a secret meeting at UMW Washington headquarters several months before the murder. The 51-year- old Turnblazer, former president of UMW District 19, also testified that Albert Pass, then secretary - treasurer of District 19, volunteered to see that the job was done.

Boyle denied his connection to the brutal murder. A day later he was convicted.

In Detroit, a high- ranking auto workers union official, David Mundy recently was sentenced to 5-to-10 years in prison for shooting a union member after an argument in the union hall. Defense attorneys for Munday, head of Dearborn Local 600, asked the court for probation, arguing that the pistol- packing union officer was a "respected" union official who had risen from poverty to the top of one of the most powerful UAW locals in the country.

We wonder how much of Mundy's "respect" is linked to the fact that he carried a .357 magnum pistol around with him. Bullets are powerful pursuaders.

What makes union officials, including in some cases "powerful" and "respected" ones, think they can get away with this type of behavior? Why is it that union members don't rise up in revolt?

Former Watergate prosecuter Archibald Cox, addressing this point, wrote in the Michigan Law Review several years ago that individual workers who oppose union officers "run enormous risks, for there are many ways, legal as well as illegal, by which entrenched officials can 'take care of' recalcitrant members."

One way is through the calculated, cold- blooded application of violence and the threat of violence — which appears to have gained widespread favor among many union policymakers.

Another more subtle way is by threatening the dissenter with the loss of his job — a coercive act which is encouraged by our federal labor law which sanctions forced union membership as a condition of employment.

Congressman Sam Steiger (Ariz.) and 24 of his colleagues in the House, and Sen. William Scott (Va.), have moved to solve this problem with new legislation which would outlaw forced union membership -- and thereby restore control of unions to the members, who would be free to respond to abusive "leaders" by quitting, and still keeping their jobs. But so far, union- controlled Members of Congress in strategic positions have been able to prevent even public hearings on the much-needed proposal.

Meanwhile, we must report, powerful and "respected" union officials continue to "take care of" those who would stand in their way.

THE COURT MAKES A RULING

Members of the Supreme Court of Missouri a few days ago ruled that Lieutenant Governor William Phelps as president of the Senate, has no authority in the Senate other than the powers given him by the Constitution.

We rather imagine that Mr. Phelps, who usually runs around over the state with a broad grim managed to erase the grin when he read the decision rendered by the Supreme Court.

The odd thing about Governor Phelps, aside from his perpetual smile, is that members of his own party have turned against him and have voted with Democrats in determining that the Senate makes its own rules and no one can bypass them.

Governor Phelps will now preside over the Missouri Senate, cast the deciding vote should there be a tie and that's about as far as his duties will be. Not too much, but Mr. Phelps decided he would be an ombudsman in Missouri and took the job on for himself without being asked to serve as ombudsman.

State Senator William J. Cason, president pro tem of the Senate, who visited Gentry country not too long ago, had some comments on the decision of the Supreme Court. He said:

'I certainly hope that the Lieutenant Governor will quit disturbing our sessions as he has been doing now that this has been settled so we can get on with the people's business.

"The fact is," he said "the Lietuenant Governor lost the first case but apparently he wasn't able to read the opinion.

"Today's decision states that if the Lieutenant Governor insists on presiding over the Senate, even at times when people's elected representatives don't want him to, then he must abide by the rules of the Senate just as the Senators must abide by them.

"We have been facing a constitutional crisis because if the Lieutenant Governor could lawfully exercise the powers he has been trying to exercise, we would have had control of a legislative body by a member of the executive branch, and this would have been the end of the three divisions of our government."

Cason said the Court's decision was neither a personal nor a partisan victory but "a victory of the people's elected representatives." He noted that the Senate rules were adopted 30-0 and were voted for by every Republican Senator in the chamber.

"The Court has said that the final power to run the Senate reposes in the people's elected representatives and certainly not in a member of the executive branch. I hope this will settle the question for good," Cason said.

GOD MANAGEMENT NEEDED

The public payroll continues to grow about twice as fast as the population it serves, while the taxpayer is bludgeoned into paying higher and higher taxes.

On an annual basis, the Tax Foundation estimates that wages of civilian employees on government payrolls will exceed $118 billion in 1973.

In five years (1967-1972) employment in the public area increased 13 per cent, while the nation's population increased about five per cent.

Actually, the number of federal employees has dropped in the five year period, but more than enough state and local employees have been hired to make up the difference.

More than half of the 371,00 increase of full-time equivalent employment in 1971-72 was in education, the field that claims half of all state and local employees.

It is only through increased citizen interest that sound management methods can be utilized to keep the public payrolls in check.

A PIECE OF WORK THAT WILL OUTLIVE US ALL

Although it will take anther 13 years before Pioneer 10 crosses the orbit of Pluto, outermost planet in the solar system, and enters true outer space on its voyage into infinity, for all intents and purposes its mission is completed.

Having passed safely through the asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter and survived the fantastically strong zone of radiation it reported around the giant planet, the probe is expected to encounter nothing but empty space the rest of the way.

There could be surprises, of course; man's first, brief era of space exploration has been full of surprises. Scientists will continue to track Pioneer 10 until its steadily fading radio beacon finally dies in 1977.

It is impossible to comprehend the vast distances involved in Pioneer's space odyssey. It covered 620 million miles in its 21- month trip to Jupiter. It must go several billion more miles before reaching the rim of the solar system. Its radio messages from Jupiter, traveling at the speed of light, took 45 minutes to reach earth. Were they to continue beaming from as far as Pluto, they would take 12 hours.

These distances and times are as nothing compared to interstellar measurements.

Long after sun dies, probably in a stupendous explosion as a nova perhaps 10 billion years hence, Pioneer 10 will continue its voyage through the galazy. Long after the earth and all its life have perished, the tiny spacecraft will continue to carry its plaque bearing the figures of a man and a woman and a diagram telling of its origin for such other space- faring sentient beings as may exist on the other side of the universe to wonder at.

All human works will someday vanish as if they had never been. Pioneer 10 will endure for eternity.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES TURNS DOWN SOLZHENITSYN

In an action that surely must shame every citizen of our country who loves freedom and honors those who stand up for it, House Speaker Carl Albert and the leadership of the U. S. House of Representatives have refused to invite Alexander Solzhenitsyn to address a joint session of Congress.

This man, Russian born and bred, a great writer and the spokesman for all the human values that communism destroys, has a message for us as well as for the dictators and the enslaved people of his homeland. For in too many ways we are following the communist example and taking the road they have taken. For us there is still time to turn back. He could, and would, have reminded our lawmakers of the need to do just that.

It is not to be. Speaker Albert's letter to Congressman John Ashbrook of Ohio, rejecting the proposal to invite Solzhenitsyn, said: "It does not appear to me that it would be propitious or proper to inject the Congress into a matter that is obviously of some diplomatic and personal sensitivity for the nations and individuals involved."

So to spare the feelings of Leonid Brezhnev and company, we will not ask Alexander Solzhenitsyn to give us the benefit of his experience and his wisdom in living under the rule of our great enemy. Our Congress will not honor this man who so clearly deserves it. As Congressman Ashbrook rightly said: "Solzhenitsyn has had the courage to speak his mind and tell the truth. We can do no less." HLH

A MOST GENEROUS OFFER

WASHINGTON– It looks as if there's going to be some hard bargaining between President Nixon's lawyer, James St. Clair, over the tapes and evidence the House Judiciary Committee has subpoenaed. While the President has said he was willing to co- operate fully with the House so we could put Watergate behind us, Mr. St. Clair as his defense lawyer has to think of protecting his client.

This is how the negotiating may go.

"Mr. Doar, this is James St. Clair. How's everything on The Hill?"

"Just fine, Mr. St. Clair. What's new at the White House that we should know about?"

"That's what I'm calling about. You guys didn't have to send us a subpoena. We promised we'd co- operate with you fully. When you voted a subpoena it made it sound as if we were dragging our feet."

"I know."

"Now look, Doar, we want to be reasonable down here and we're willing to give you everything you've asked for."

"You are?"

"Yes, with the only exception that it doesn't harm the Presidency or violate the Constitution. As Mr. Nixon's lawyer I believe I'm in the best position to know what is relevant to your impeachment hearings. I've sifted through every piece of evidence and I give you my word a lot of the stuff you're requesting is not worth fighting for."

"How do we know that if we haven't heard the tapes?"

"I heard them, and the President's heard them, and H. R. Haldeman's heard them. Why can't you take our word for it that there is absolutely nothing on them that can contribute to Mr. Nixon's impeachment? What on earth would we have to gain by keeping evidence from your committee?"

"I'm certain, Mr. St. Clair, that what you say is true, but there are some members of the committee who have a thing about presidential tapes. Now are you going to turn them over to us?"

"That's what I'm calling about. We're willing to give you 42 tapes as requested."

"Then we don't have a problem."

"But the President feels he should have the right to decide what 42 tapes to give you. That's only fair."

"I don't get you."

"The President is offering instead of the Kleindienst telephone conversation of April 15 a tape of his call to congratulate Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins for winning the Super Bowl. The President says it's a much jazzier tape and he's sure the entire House committee would enjoy it.

"He is also offering in place of his conversations with Haldeman and Ehrlichman on April 16, 1973, the complete unedited tape of his talk with David Eisenhower on Feb. 12, 1969. He would also like to substitute the Colson material you've asked for with a tape of a very funny meeting he had in the Oval Office with Miss Cherry Blossom of 1972.

"To show his good faith the President has authorized me to turn over to you the tapes of all the prayer breakfasts at the White House, as well as a complete tape of Pearl Bailey singing 'When The Saints Go Marching In.' Furthermore, he is throwing in a tape of a personal message he dictated to Secretariat when he won the triple crown.

"He feels these tapes are something the House could play over and over again. Believe me, Mr. Doar, the ones you people have asked for are dull and repetitious, and you'd be bored to death. The ones we're offering you would give you hours of listening pleasure."

"Thanks, Mr. St. Clair, but no thanks. We still want the tapes we asked for."

"Okay Doar. The President asked me to give you a message if you refused his generous offer."

"What is that?"

"He told me to tell you 'That does it. No more Mr. Nice Guy.' "

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: Mafia Taking a Beating

WASHINGTON — As evidence perhaps of the cynicism about corrpution in high places, we are frequently asked whether the Mafia is really manipulating the government from behind the scenes.

We have responded that the Mafia has no influence in Washington, that the Justice Department's task forces have been cracking down on organized crime. Now we have seen evidence in a secret General Accounting Office report that the courts, too, have been harsh on Mafia mobsters.

The roster of crime lords, who have wound up in federal prisons, should lay to rest any idea that Mafia membership pays. More than 800, including some prominent "godfathers," have drawn prison sentences since 1969.

To cite a couple of examples, a kingpin of the "French connection," Auguste Ricord, is sitting out his life in a federal penitentiary. Another top Mafioso, Aniello Dellacroce, just finished an income- tax sentence in the Atlanta pen. A few days before his release, another Mafioso leader, Frank Valenti, was locked behind federal bars.

The GAO study shows that, despite high- priced lawyers and highly placed friends, a crime syndicate figure can count on going to jail after conviction 54 per cent of the time, compared with 49 per cent for ordinary criminals.

Not surprisingly, the syndicate mobsters come before federal judges for sentencing most often on charges of extortion, racketeering, threats, gambling, embezzlement and fraud. For these crimes, Cosa Nostra criminals get longer sentences than do garden variety hoods.

For non-Mafia criminals, an average sentence for embezzlement and fraud is 18 months. But for a Mafia man it is 28 months. For the other crimes, a common hoodlum averages 35 months, the syndicate criminal 41 months.

On narcotics convictions, the syndicate pushers get an average of eight years compared to six for non-Mafia peddlers. Theft and immigration charges also bring longer sentences for organized criminals.

Nowhere in the federal crime spectrum, with the possible exception of assaults, do Mafia mobsters get a better break than common criminals.

Footnote: Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., who requested the GAO study, had feared that federal sentences for the Mafia might be light, as appears to be the case in some state courts. A few state judges, particularly in New York, seem lenient on crime syndicate figures. But in contrast, the federal courts in New York have been even tougher on the crime lords than the national average. On narcotics, for example, Brooklyn federal judges are the roughest in the land.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Sources who have listened to the White House tapes say they were shocked at President Nixon's gutter language and vicious cracks. His profanity had the flavor, they say, of the dialogue in the ribald movie, "The Last Detail." He assailed those who displeased him with ugly invective. In a telephone conversation with ex-Attorney General Richard Kleindienst, for example, the President called antitrust chief Richard McLaren a nasty name but later appointed him a federal judge ...

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told confidantes that he received a scorching from Kremlin leader Leonid Brezhnev at their last Moscow meeting. In the strongest language Kissinger has heard from him, Brezhnev castigated United States moves in the Middle East. Kissinger predicted in advance that the Soviets would encourage Syrian shooting on the Golan Heights. Kissinger has done his best, meanwhile, to appease the Kremlin ... Sources close to the investigation of ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally can't understand why he would pocket $10,000 in milk money, as alleged, since he is a millionaire. Of course, Connally has vigorously denied that he took the money. But at the time of the alleged bribe, White House sources have reported, Connally was complaining that he had to borrow money to avoid selling off investments. His low government salary wasn't enough, he grumped, to keep up with his high living expenses ... The Federal Energy Office has become afflicted with the secrecy mania although it doesn't deal with security matters. Until FEO can buy its own supershredders, burners and what not, its employes have been instructed to deposit their secret trash in a central vault. An internal memo directs them to deliver the trash in "burn bags" which "Must be sealed and marked to identify the specific element from which it comes ... Items such as cans, bottles, lunch bags and other routine trash must not be put in the burn bag."

Male Democrats set fish fry

NEW MADRID — Male members of the New Madrid County Young Democrats Club will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. at the New Madrid Jaycee building, 710 Riley St., for a fish fry, according to president Jim W. Farrenburg, who said the meeting is a combined social and business get- together.

The club is making arrangements to join the Scott County Club as co-hosts for the State Young Democrats convention June 28-29 at the Sikeston Ramada Inn.

Mowers stolen

Joe Voelker, 820 N. Kingshighway, reported a lawnmower was taken from his shed between April 15 and Monday.

Becky Pollock, 222 Hardin St., reported a lawnmower was stolen and said she did not know when the theft occurred.

Trash fire put out

Firemen were called at 7:13 p.m. Tuesday to the Kay Apartments, 120 W. Kathleen Ave., to extinguish a trash fire behind the building.

Firemen said there was no damage.

TORONTO (AP) — While the Yonge Street Mall has been dismantled after the summer, one attraction remains. On one corner sits Joe Smolij, a speed chess expert. He'll play anyone in two, three or four minutes and probably win. During the games he recites tales of his wide travels throughout the world.

5 ordered to stand trial in Circuit Court

NEW MADRID — Five persons were ordered to stand trial in Circuit Court on felony charges after waiving preliminary hearings in Magistrate Court before Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Chillis Johnson was released from custody when he posted $1,000 bond on a felonious stealing charge. He is accused of stealing a $78 American Express money order which he cashed at Best Dollar Store in Portageville.

Frankie Cook, Cleotha Johnson and Thurman Johnson were placed under $500 bond each on burglary and larceny charges stemming from a breakin on April 17 of the Cream Can at Howardville. Cash from vending machines and an undetermined amount of cigarettes valued together at $150 were stolen.

Clara Helen Babb of Portageville Route Three was bound over to Circuit Court under $500 bond for trial on a felony charge of cheat and defraud by writing a $23.34 check to Shirrell Smith of Portageville when she allegedly knew she did not have a bank account.

Three minors, Olen Keith Cook, Danny Dale Lefler and John Griff Waldron, charged separately with illegal possession of beer, were placed on probation after each was given a six- month suspended jail sentence and fined $65.

Rick Hager was fined $40 on peace disturbance charge, and Lindol Curtis was assessed $30 fine on similar charge.

George Savat was fined $50 on a nonsupport charge and ordered to pay $10 per week for support beginning Thursday.

Albert Ray Simmons was levied $70 fine on charges of supplying beer to a minor and failure to transfer license. He was given a six-month jail sentence and placed on probation.

Fines imposed on speeding charges were against William Thomas Robinson, $90; Danny Lee Jackson, $25; and Dennis Eugene Powers, $30.

Others fined on motor vehicle violations include David Glenn Byrd, inadequate muffler, $20; Ronnie Ansel Underwood, careless and imprudent driving, $40; Kathleen Louis Myers, operating vehicle with out- of - state operator license while a Missouri resident, $20; and Texas Eastern, operating improperly registered vehicle, $20.

Fire ignites during welding

PORTAGEVILLE — The fire department answered a call at 7:10 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a fire which ignited while welding was being done on a truck in a workshop at the Sam Ellsworth home on Highway 162 three miles west of Portageville.

An estimate on the extent of damages was not available.

A piece of cotton on the dress not only indicates that a letter is on its way, but also shows the initial of the one sending it. (If you're that superstitious, also note the zip code!)

Tapes stolen

Eight eight- track stereo tapes were reported stolen from a car belonging to Bill Harlow, Route Two, according to police.

The tapes were taken between 8:30 p.m. Tuesday and 12:30 a.m. today while the car was parked in the Goodyear Tire Center parking lot in the Midtowner Village Shopping Center.

The tapes were valued at $32, police said.

3 arrested

Police today announced the arrest of Robert Russell Mayo, 853 Agnes St., for improper registration; Larry Leo Rofkahr, 729 E. Kathleen Ave., careless and imprudent driving; and Walter Vernon Britt, 110 N. West St., peace disturbance.

Jon Matlack of the New York Mets pitched 16 World Series innings before allowing an earned run. Then in the third inning of the final game he gave up a pair of two-run homers.

Barges were popular in colonial times. Also, many coaches were ferried across rivers in parallel canoes.

District Sew With Cotton contest set for Saturday

DONIPHAN— The Missouri Sew With Cotton program and activities day will be held at Doniphan Junior High School, Saturday, according to Rebecca Nistendirk of New Madrid, area chairman of the Sew With Cotton program.

A full- day educational program is planned for all participants. Mrs. Elsie Boaz, executive director of Patricia Stevens Finishing and Career School at Memphis, Tenn., will give the girls special training in modeling.

"Fashion and Design" will be the title of a program presented by Mrs. Velda Rankin of Portageville, assistant professor of home economics and state textiles and clothing specialist for the University of Missouri Extension Division. The information will be of interest to adults, also.

"Getting It All Together" will be presented by Miss Charlene Lindsay of Columbia, professor and youth 4- H specialist for University of Missouri, and will be of interest to adults in a leadership role.

"Fashion Can Be Fun" is a program designed for girls who will attend but are not participating in the fashion show. Mrs. Tica Camp, home economics instructor at Campbell High School, and her students will present this program.

A fashion show, using the theme, "A Tisket, A Tasket, From a Sewing Basket", will be presented at 1:30 p.m. in the junior high gymnasium, with Miss Jewel Grady of Bloomfield, area textiles and clothing specialist, in charge of the show.

All garments will be made of 100 per cent cotton by the girls who range in age from 10 through 18. They will be modeling their own creations of the latest colors and styles.

Mrs. Norman Bartmess of Kennett, coordinator of the program, will be in charge of the day's activities and will preside at the morning and afternoon programs.

Mrs. Velma Barnes and Mrs. Orteen Kobert, Doniphan, home economics instructors, are hostesses for the program.

The public is invited to attend the Fashion Show, which will begin at 1:30 p. m.

Play Day planned at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — About 150 high school girls from Southeast Missouri State University's service area are expected to be on the campus Saturday to participate in Play Day, an annual event sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association in cooperation with the department of women's physical education.

"Hats Off to SeMo" is the theme of this spring's Play Day in keeping with the university's 100th birthday celebration, according to Mrs. Erma Defee, WRA sponsor and instructor of physical education.

Highlights of the day's activities will be performances, following lunch, by Terpsichore, the university's modern dance group, and the Meraqua Swim Club.

All activities, including lunch, will take place in W. W. Parker Physical Education Building. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the program is expected to wind up about 3 p.m.

The morning program, according to Mrs. Defee, will consist of planned sports. The girls will be divided into groups and each group will participate in several sports. About a half hour will be devoted to each sport.

The afternoon hours, following the modern dance and swimming shows, will be free time, and the participants will be encouraged to take part in sports of their choice.

Poor nutrition affects mental development

By DR. LAURENCE M. HURSH, M.D.
National Dairy Council Consultant

Scientists are now discovering that poor nutrition in the first three years of life prevents full mental development, and that this can't be entirely corrected. The tragedy of this is apparent in that it's estimated that two-third of the world's children -- 300 million youngsters -- are undernourished and have some degree of growth retardation.

Food is the source from which you replace material your body loses. Bone, fat, muscle, organs, blood - all these things need constant replacement in your body. You may be an exact duplicate of what you were a year ago, but you are to a very large extent of new substance. This is why proper eating is so important.

The three methods for cooking vegetables to conserve as much of their nutrients as possible are: Steaming, pressure cooking, or cooking quickly in a covered pan with only enough water to prevent scorching. You'll save vitamin C if you cook vegetables only until they are done -- no longer.

As one of the four food groups, dairy foods are important because they are your very best source of calcium. You need calcium, even when you're an adult, for upkeep of bone and for proper functioning of nerves and muscles. Milk and its products are important, too, for protein, and the B vitamin riboflavin, as well as other vitamins and minerals.

There are some warnings you should heed about losing weight. Starving yourself is the wrong answer. It can upset your body chemistry, including decreasing your muscle more than fat, and if continued too long, it may create permanent damage involving vital functions. If you have a serious weight problem, see your doctor.

Here are ways to help your pre-school child. Serve small portions of foods, like smaller glasses of milk or juice; also medium temperature foods, rather than too hot or cold. And finger foods are easier for tiny hands to handle, like wedges of egg or tomato, or little cubes of meat or cheese, or carrot sticks

Fats are a chief source of energy and some vitamins. But that's not all. Fats make our foods more appetizing. They also delay the time your stomach takes to empty. This makes meals "stick to your ribs" and you don't have to eat again as soon.

New show to focus on women

NEW YORK (AP) — One week from Thursday, CBS will air a one- hour daytime news special for women. It eventually could become a regualr weekly event, according to a CBS executive in charge of the project.

The show is called "Magazine" and is hosted by correspondents Sylvia Chase and Charles Kuralt. Employing a format similar to CBS' "60 Minutes," it'll report on such diverse stories as hysterectomies, economical supermarket shopping and how soap operas are put together.

How did the show come about? Was it prompted by pressure from women's activist groups who feel daytime television should offer its predominantly female audience more than soap and games?

"No, I wouldn't think so," says Bill Leonard, a CBS News senior vice president. He said it basically stemmed from a suggestion made about 1½ years ago by CBS program chief Fred Silverman.

If the show gets the reaction CBS hopes it will, he said, it could become a weekly series in future years: "I would hope they CBS brass could make it that."

It isn't a low- budget effort, he said. Although he declined to say what the May 2 show is costing, he said the price tag was similar to that of a prime time documentary — in the $50,000 to $100,000 range.

The show will pre- empt two soap operas — 'The Guiding Light" and "The Edge of Night." And Leonard expects gripes will come from devotees of those shows, as they usually do during such news pre-emptions.

But he's philosophical about it. "This is only an hour," he said with a laugh. "I guess we can live with a few phone calls."

4-H leaders attend '74 workshop

RISCO — Mrs. Pansy Crosby, county youth assistant, and Mrs. Betty Cummins of Risco and Mrs. Louise Lueker of Catron were among 4-H leaders who attended the annual recreation workshop Thursday through Sunday at Camp Hawthorne on Lake of the Ozarks.

The camp is held to aid leaders of 4-H, senior citizens and other youth groups in gleaning ideas for recreation, crafts and games for their annual programs. One of the main emphases at the camp was photography, led by Jack Kenward, a professional photographer from Kansas City.

Various crafts taught at the sessions were plastercraft, nature terrariums, bead work and needlework techniques. Instructions were individually provided for each age level.

Ann Landers

Woman bitter because doctor 'talked me into masectomy'

Dear Ann Landers: Okay. So I let a doctor talk me into having a mastectomy (a breast removed) and now I need a head- shrinker because of that damned operation. I will never forgive myself for allowing such a brutal thing to be done to me.

I can't bring myself to accept a date for fear it might develop into an emotional involvement. How unfair for a woman to let a man fall in love with her when she can give him only a mutilated body. It's too cruel to even think about.

Women who have had this operation are lying when they say it didn't change their sex lives. How could it miss? Sign me-- Too Late And Plenty Sorry

Dear Friend: You DO need a head- shrinker, and I hope you find one soon. You say you "let a doctor talk you into a mastectomy." Unless the biopsy showed a malignancy, no doctor would remove a breast. Be thankful the cancerous breast was removed because otherwise the disease would have killed you.

Thousands of married women have had breasts removed and are enjoying sex as they did before. Granted, some husbands aren't able to accept the change, but they are immature, ignorant fools. Any woman who loses a husband because of this hasn't lost much.

Obviously you are single, but I can assure you many love affairs and marriages have taken place after breast removals. I hope women who have experienced this will write to me. I will print their letters and prove that your fears are groundless.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 13 years old and have been a fan of yours for a long time, but I sure wish you would print more letters from teenagers. We have troubles, too, and there aren't many places for us to go for help.

For years, people have mistaken me for a girl. I am a boy. In stores they say, "Thank you, Miss," and even on the bus I've been riding for ages, the driver still says, "Hi, honey," and stuff like that.

I'm sort of short and skinny with brown curly hair. Like all the other guys in my crowd, I wear my hair long, but this is not considered girlish because it's the style. I wear jeans and shirts, and I can't help it if a lot of girls wear them, too. They are copying US.

As soon as I can grow a moustache, I will, but it doesn't look like that will happen for quite a while yet. What can I do NOW?-- A Him

Dear Him: The first thing you can do is cut off some of that curly brown hair. If you're wearing beads and sandals, knock those off, too. Pretty soon your voice will change and that will help. When someone says, "Thank you, Miss," you can reply in a bass voice, "Call me Mister."

Dear Ann Landers: Is it against the law for a teacher to teach a class while he is intoxicated?

Our son tells us a certain professor is bombed out of his mind at least three afternoons a week and has a terrible temper when he is loaded. He has already suspended two students.

The college is small and it seems someone in administration should have noticed this. What do you advise?--- Concerned Parent

Dear Parent: The Dean should be informed at once. The next time the prof shows up plastered-- if this is really what's happening-- the Dean should be summoned to observe the scene.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You-- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Risco prom held Friday

RISCO — "Moonlight and Roses" was the theme for the 1974 junior- senior prom held Friday evening in the Risco High School cafetorium. A red carpet and huge potted roses marked a path to the entrance of a simulated rock- walled rose garden which contained life-size rose trees, a dainty garden swing and a covered wishing well.

An authentic- looking old mill was appropriately used, along with a circular flowing water fountain in which rose petals floated. Overhead, streamers of midnight blue, studded with stars, completely covered the ceiling. Pink streamers formed walls surrounding the prom area, and stately white columns divided the dance area from the serving tables where atmosphere was added bysmall green lamps at each table.

Barbara McNeely, junior class president, was mistress of ceremonies for the program, dufing which Debbie Warth presented the junior class prophecy for each member of the senior class. Danny Byrd read the senior class will to the group, and the evening climaxed with the crowning of the prom queen and king, Toni Earnheart, crowned by Andy Smelser, and Danny Byrd, crowned by Barbara McNeely.

Appreciation banquet held honoring RSVP volunteers

EAST PRAIRIE — Bill Brantley was honored as Volunteer of the Year at the first annual appreciation and awards banquet honoring volunteers in the Mississippi County Retired Senior Citizens Program Friday night at the A. J. Martin school cafeteria.

Brandley, who is blind, and his seeing eye dog have visited the Head Start centers in Charleston and East Prairie, where he has demonstrated the use of a seeing eye dog. He has also entertained the Head Start children with his violin.

Mrs. Betty Johnson presented Brantley a special plaque for his services. Mrs. Loretta Ditto was recognized for her assistance with the Kitchen Klatter Band, and Ralph Brown received recognition for his volunteer service in providing transportation and school ground supervision.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to all volunteers. Those with more than three months of service received RSVP pins, and the others also received ribbons from Mrs. Johnson.

Barney Webster, president of the East Prairie Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization of the Mississippi County RSVP program, served as master of ceremonies. Slides of volunteers in action were shown. Dinner music and two vocal numbers were provided by Mrs. Iris McElrath.

Carnations were presented to the women volunteers and boutonnieres to the men.

The program has been in operation since last August, and there are now 65 active volunteers.

The only hobby regulated by international treaty is amateur radio broadcasting.

What's the law?

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Chester proved to be a slice off the old ham. After his calculating father divorced his mother, his father went on to make a small fortune. And, before dying, he made out a will in which he gave Chester the income from his estate for life with the principal going to Chester's children upon Chester's death. However, the will continued, if Chester died without having children, then the principal was to be distributed to certain named charities. It was at this juncture that Chester revealed his conniving pedigree.

Being childless, Chester contrived a simple scheme to save his father's estate for his mother. He filed a petition in court to adopt her.

"You must be joking," protested several officials in opposition. "A son can't adopt his own mother. That would make him her father and that's not only absurd, it's confusing."

"But the law in this state isn't confusing," retorted Chester with an air of confidence. "It provides, specifically, that any person may file a petition to adopt a child or 'an adult' providing they are residents. Since I'm a resident, there's no reason I can't adopt my mother."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit conniving Chester to adopt his mother?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that since the law unequivocally authorizes the adoption of "an adult" by "any person," Chester cannot be precluded by a court from adopting his mother. Only the legislature, concluded the judge, can prevent such an adoption by legislation.

Library week in full swing

Riverside Regional Library
By Earl H. Oldham, Director

JACKSON — National Library Week activities at the Riverside Regional Library are in full swing, celebrating the theme of "Grow With Books". Books, of course, are what the library is all about, but at the six centers of the Riverside Regional Library, other activities and interests are important, too.

One of the most-used services offered by the regional library is the use of its buildings as community meeting places. Organizations in the towns, as well as in the rural areas of Perry, Cape Girardeau and Scott counties, are increasingly making use of library facilities for holding meetings. During 1973, for example, Riverside Regional Library's buildings were used for 1,192 meetings of civic, fraternal and educational groups.

What can you find at a library? First, of course, is books -- all kinds and descriptions of books, for all ages and interests. "Grow with Books" implies a widening of knowledge and awareness, possible only with the variety offered at a library. As a disseminator of knowledge through the printed word, the library has no rivals. But the modern library offers much more.

At the Riverside Regional Library's centers at Jackson, Perryville, Altenbury, Illmo, Benton and Morley, there are 16 millimeter films and 35-mm. filmstrips, cassettes, records, audio-visual equipment. Available at the central center in Jackson are microfilmed material and a microfilm reader. Whatever is not immediately available, the staff is ready to make an effort to obtain.

If you haven't visited your library this week, now is the time to do it. National Library Week began Monday and runs through Saturday, and the interest and participation of library patrons are what makes the week important.

Ball still remains mystery

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The origin of a 22-pound stainless steel ball found in Florida remains a puzzle, but "it's a nice, pleasant brain teaser," says an expert on unidentified flying objects.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the Department of Astronomy at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., and former adviser to the Air Force on UFOs, was one of five scientists who examined the ball here over the weekend.

Newsmen also looked at it, shook it and heard a faint rattle.

Terry Matthews, 21, of Jacksonville, Fla., who found the ball near his home last month, brought the ball here for inspection. He claims the ball, which is 8 inches in diameter, has moved by itself and made strange noises.

Hynek said none of the five scientists now thinks the ball is aything but man-made.

"None will go so far as to say its extra-terrestrial," he said in an interview Sunday. "They would be putting their scientific reputations on the line."

The five scientists met here as members of a National Enquirer panel on UFOs. The weekly tabloid has offered $50,000 to anyone who can come up with "definite" proof of extra-terrestrial life.

Frankly speaking

Legislation goal to get rid of money influence

WASHINGTON— Approximately $400 million was spent on all 1972 election campaigns. Not only is this a lot of money, but it raises the question, where does it come from? And with what strings attached?

The disclosures resulting from Watergate have given the general public a glimpse of how and from what sources funds can be raised. According to current availabl information, the top 25 contributors in President Nixon's 1972 presidential campaign gave a total of $7.5 million. That's an average of $300,000 per contributor.

New accounts of illegal contributions and implications of special favors for certain groups make the average American wonder whether government is for the people or whether it is sold to the highest bidder.

In an attempt to restore the average American's confidence in government, the United States Senate recently passed the Federal Campaign Act. Through a combination of public financing, spending limits of 12 cents per voter in general elections and contribution limits of $3,000 per person, the legislation's goal is to get rid of big money influence in government.

The public financing concept is not new. Theodore Roosevelt suggested it back in 1907. The United States rejected the idea at that time, but some form of public financing of elections has been adopted by about half of the Western democracies.

The United States instead tried to control campaigns through the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925. Yet in its 46 years of existence, no member of Congress was ever punished for violating it.

The Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 tried to remedy the big money influence problem through disclosure of contributions, but it didn't go far enough-- Watergate still happened.

Although public financing of campaigns is not a cure- all, it will help ensure that public officials respond first to the public-- not to special interest groups.

It is not a raid on taxpayers' money. The biggest raid occurs when financial favors are given special interest groups-- at the expense of taxpayers, or when corporate tax loopholes are maintained-- at the expense of the taxpayers.

Instead, public financing will break the stranglehold of big money contributors on the election process. When all the people pay for elections, all the people will truly be represented by those elected.

Even without the public financing provision, the Senate bill's provisions for spending and contribution limits would be a good step toward campaign reform.

Hopefully we can close all loopholes which allow big money to dictate public policy and maintain a government whose goal is to bring about the greatest good to the greatest number of people.

Statuary Hall was created in 1864 to occupy the former Hall of the House of Representatives. States were invited to contribute not more than two statues of distinguished persons judged worthy of national commemoration by the states, but in 1933 the number of statues was limited to one for each state, others to be placed in other parts of the Capitol, The World Almanac notes. Some 91 statues have been contributed by 50 states.

Bond urges health service long range plans

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond urged development of long-range plans Monday to provide adequate manpower for emergency medical services and maternal and child health in the future.

Speaking to the Missouri Health Manpower Conference here, Bond noted the University of Missouri Medical School is placing greater emphasis on accepting and enrolling medical students from rural and urban ghetto areas, hoping that such students will return to those medically understaffed areas.

"What we need now is an 'over-all strategy for health manpower in Missouri," the governor said. "We need a clear definition of our goals and objectives and a long-range plan to implement such a system.

"We must look at the new health delivery programs," he continued, "which are being developed or implemented on a statewide basis, and determine what health manpower will be needed to provide these programs throughout the state, in numbers as well as degree of specialization.

Bond noted as an example one of his high priority programs this year-maternal and infant health care, which he said he was hopeful would be taken up today by the House as a special order of business.

"If there is not a sufficient number of adequately trained health personnel to provide for such a program," Bond said, "we should look toward recruiting and training the necessary manpower."

SeMo U. room, board rate hike approved

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Room and board rates at Southeast Missouri State University will go up by about $1 a week, beginning with the 1974-75 academic year, to cover increased costs of food and labor.

The university's board of regents approved the increase April 18, after university treasurer Jack Wimp told members that a $90,000 increase in food and labor costs is expected in fiscal 1975.

The new rate will be $898 per academic year -- $36 a year more than the students are now paying, Wimp said. The treasurer reviewed room and board rates at the other four Missouri state universities and declared the increase would "keep us even and in line with the others."

Wimp also discussed the effect upon the university of the new minimum wage law recently passed by Congress and signed by the president.

Full- time students who work up to 20 hours a week when school is in session will get $1.62 an hour beginning May 1, he said, and this will go to $1.70 an hour on Jan. 1.

Regular employes -- and students employed when school is not in session -- must be paid at least $1.90 an hour beginning May 1 and $2 an hour beginning Jan. 1.

Wimp also reported to the board that the university has decided to call for new bids on the construction of a 100,000-gallon steel water tank to replace an existing, smaller tower located west of the Industrial Arts Building. Only one bid was received on the first call, he said, and it was about $60,000 more than had been anticipated.

By revising the specifications slightly, the treasurer told the regents that a 15-20 per cent savings could be realized.

The regents awarded a $50,000 contract to Kiefner Brothers Construction Co. of Perryville for construction of the first leg of a campus underground electrical primary distribution system. The first phase will consist of a circuit from the power plant to the site of the new union building, now under construction. An offshoot of the circuit will be plugged into Academic Hall to provide necessary power for modern standards.

The board also authorized contracts to be let for continued work on Academic Hall, providing approval is obtained from the state to use local funds to help finance the project.

Use of local funds is necessary, it was explained, because the bids for the mechanical and general and electrical work on the building were about $150,000 more than the legislature appropriated.

Tom Phillips, a Cape Girardeau architect who is overseeing the continuing renovation of the structure, reported to the board that he had gone over the projected work in detail with a state official, and they agreed that "all work is essential for the restoration of Academic Hall and there is a choice of doing the work now or at a later date at an even more inflated cost."

Assuming approval is given by the state fiscal office and the state architect, B. W. Birk Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Inc. of Cape Girardeau will receive a $379,000 contract for the mechanical work and Wright Electric Contracting Co. Inc. of Cape Girardeau will bet a $311,000 contract for the general and electrical work.

Basically, the work will include a sprinkler system throughout the building, complete rewiring of the building with new light fixtures and electrical outlets, new plumbing and central heating and air conditioning.

David Pearce, a St. Louis architect representing the firm which designed the new student union building, reported that the project is now 42 days behind schedule. He also reported that he expected to have a recommendation for the board by its next meeting on several requests from the contractor for extensions of time.

In other business, the board heard reports from Sam Palermo, a management expert hired by the board to supervise the upgrading of campus custodial, maintenance and security systems; Dr. A. R. Meyer, dean of instruction; and Dr. Robert Foster, dean of graduate studies.

The next meeting was set for June 13 at 9:30 a.m.

Palermo, who joined the university staff on March 1, submitted his initial review of custodial efforts in academic facilities. The report identified 14 problem areas, including a lack of checklists of required tasks for janitors and student workers, unsuitable trash can locations, lack of coordination between the use of facilities and necessary custodial support, and the use of the custodial work force in support of other functions.

Sixteen recommendations to correct the deficiencies were also submitted. They included the installation of hand dryers in "high use" rest rooms to reduce paper usage, restocking and litter; the installation of trash receptacles in "heavy traffic" areas; and an anti-litter campaign which would involve students.

Dean Meyer asked for, and received, board approval of policies regarding the selection of department heads, retirement and departmental review.

The departmental review policy, he said, provides a means for faculty members to initiate an independent assessment of a department's programs and procedures.

The retirement policy specifies "that individuals reaching age 65 prior to the beginning of any academic year shall not be eligible for continued employment." Exceptions can be made, however, if an individual's request is approved by university officials and the regents.

The policy for the selection of department heads provides for participation of both administrative officers of the university and senior members of the department.

The board also approved the offering of a major in mathematics on the master of arts in teaching degree program.

Dr. Foster reported on the visit to the campus of Dr. Robert H. Koenker, dean of the graduate school at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. Dr. Koenker has been serving as a consultant on the Southeast Missouri State graduate programs from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Mobile home owner tells of destruction during storm

HOLTS SUMMIT, Mo. (AP) — "We were just sitting in the front room when we heard the loud roar," said Bill McMillan.

He was describing what it's like to be trapped in a mobile home when struck by tornadic winds.

"The trailer lifted," he said, "and that's when I dove for my wife and daughter who were sitting on the sofa. I never made it that far. Before the lights went out, the trailer seemed to turn over, very slowly."

The storm struck Sunday night. McMillan, he and his family spared, took time off from salvaging their belongings Monday to thank his lucky stars he could tell about it.

"After the trailer turned over," he said, "everything was in shambles. My wife, Carol, was underneath the sofa, and the baby was screaming.

"The doors were useless and the paneling inside had shifted. The only means of exiting was through the window and the windows wouldn't open.

"I had to break the glas with my fist so we could get out."

Carol and Bill were released from the hospital after being treated. Carol had to have several stitches in her leg and foot while Bill had 15 stitches in his leg, 10 in his elbow and one on a knuckle. The baby was hospitalized in satisfactory condition with a large lump on the side of her head.

In daylight, the McMillans discovered how lucky they were. About 40 feet to their immediate rear was another neighbor's trailer.

"Our trailer could not have stood by itself upside down," McMillen said. "If our trailer had not come to rest on the side of the other, I have no doubt that the walls could not have supported the heavy frame."

"I was planning to install anchors on our trailer this Saturday but I guess this takes care of that," McMillan added.

The family has relatives who have offered to take them in.

Most of the items in the trailer were covered by insurance.

"I had to rebuild when I got out of the Army. I guess I can do it again," McMillan said.

"One thing is definitely for certain, I am not ever going to buy another trailer."

Trustees authorize signing of hospital building contracts

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Trustees of Southeast Missouri Hospital recently authorized the signing of contracts totaling $2,532,662 for the construction of a three-floor addition to the East Wing of the hospital.

The sum will be increased by $144,074 in architects and engineering fees to bring total cost, without furnishings to $2,676,736.

Robert O. Hirsch, president of the board, noted the total cost figure is $81,579 less than the estimate of $2,758,315 determined at the outset of the four-stage hospital development program.

Low bidders were as follows:

-General contract, Buckley Construction Co., Fenton, $1,218,911.

-Electrical contract, C. J. Hervey Electric Co., St. Louis, $173,950.

-Combination plumbing, heating, piping and air conditioning contract, Associate Engineering Co., St. Louis, $928,490.

-Ventilating contract, Tate Distributing Co., Cape Girardeau, $129,030.

-Elevator contract, Otis Elevator Co., St. Louis, $82,281.

Other bidders were: general contract, Penzel Construction Co., Jackson; electric, D and D Electrical Co., Cape Girardeau; heating, piping and air conditioning, B. W. Birk and Co., Cape Girardeau; plumbing, A. E. Birk and Son, Cape Girardeau; B. W. Birk and Co., Burnett Plumbing and Heating Co., St. Clair; ventilating, Likens Heating and Air Conditioning, Cape Girardeau, Stevenson Roofing Co., St. Louis; elevator, General Elevator Co., St. Louis.

The three-floor East Wing addition, which will be built on top of the existing two floors, is the third stage of the hospital's expansion plan, taken to the public in early 1973 in a $1 million capital funds campaign to go with existing and borrowed capital available to the hospital. A total of $931,349 has been raised to date in that campaign.

The first phase, part of a long-range development program initiated in plans announced in the late 1960s, was underway at the time of the fund campaign. It was erection of a West Wing for maternity and medical-surgical beds. This was open in May 1973.

The second stage, partially completed, was a critical care section including a cardiac care unit which was opened two weeks ago. Under construction as a part of this stage is the expansion of the parking lot.

The East Wing addition, third in the expansion, should be completed by June 1, 1976. hospital officials said. James Dutton, architect for the Pearce Corp., said this was a conservative schedule allowing for possible delay in delivery of steel. Pearce Corp. will serve as management consultant.

Bids accepted by the trustees Wednesday also fit into the fourth stage of construction, renovation of the original hospital building, the North Wing.

When the East Wing addition is completed, the North Wing will be converted into ancillary facilities for clinical laboratory, X-ray, medical records, pharmacy, etc. The bids accepted Wednesday included pipe tunnels and connecting facilities for the future conversion of the North Wing.

Patients now in the North Wing will be moved to the East Wing addition upon its completion. Two floors of the three-floor vertical expansion will be utilized. The top floor will be shelled in for future use.

Each of the two finished floors will have 31 beds, 22 semi-private and nine private for a total of 62 beds. Hospital officials said the rooms will be equipped with the most modern hospital facilities, including individual heating and cooling control. Each room will have a lavatory and some private rooms will have bath facilities.

In addition, a large solarium is planned for the fifth level while the first floor will include a waiting room for families of patients in the intensive and coronary care units. Although no patient rooms will be placed on the fifth floor, there will be access to the solarium, overlooking Capaha Park and north Cape Girardeau, from the first four floors.

Copies of the bids will be given to each department of the city and a meeting will be held between city employes and the insurance committee at a later date. Con't. from Page 1

A one-vehicle accident at 1:45 a.m. today one mile south of Fredericktown on Highway 67 resulted in minor injuries to the driver.

He was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Cook named as Lewallen director

Gene Cook of Marquand has been hired as director at Camp Lewallen this summer. The Boy Scout camp, located near Silva, will open June 16.

Cook was approved by the Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council executive board at its monthly meeting Tuesday night at Sikeston Junior High School. He was recommended by the council camping committee headed by Joe Kiser of Piedmont.

Kiser also reported to the board that the camp will need two cooks and a nurse this summer.

He also noted that the Order of the Arrow spring reunion will be held this weekend at Camp Lewallen, and Scouts will clean up the campsite and make repairs. Wives of Boy Scout leaders have been invited to attend a program planning session May 18 at the camp, while their husbands plan their camp activities for their troops. Pre-camp inspection also will be held that day.

A staff training session will be held June 9.

Kiser announced that applications are still being taken for a week-long trip down the Frank Struwe Canoe Trail July 28- Aug. 3. The first 30 persons between the ages of 18 and 21 will be accepted.

Dr. R. A. Ritter of Cape Girardeau presided at Tuesday night's board meeting in the absence of Dr. Mark Scully of Cape Girardeau, chairman.

Vic Hill of Cape Girardeau, activities committee chairman, said applications for the trip to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico must be in by June 1. Scouts will leave Southeast Missouri on Aug. 6 and return Aug. 21.

Jerry Wright, scoutmaster of Post 189 in Kennett, told board members that he thought last month's selection of two boys to attend the 1975 World Jamboree in Lillhammer, Norway, was unfair because others in the district were not given sufficient time to submit applications.

The first two applications to arrive in the district office were approved at the March meeting. Only three boys will be selected from Southeast Missouri, unless other districts do not fill their quotas, Ten applications have been submitted.

Wright was informed by the board that the policy has always been to accept the applications on a first come, first serve basis. Dr. Ritter said absolutely no favortism was shown.

Board members thanked Wright for his interest in the matter and recommended that a three- man committee be appointed to recommend ways of handling the problem in future years. The committee members are Judge Marshall Craig and Pat Lea of Sikeston and Hill.

The board approved plans for a one- week sailing cruise in the Bahamas for 10 scouts aged 14 or old. The trip is planned for July 1975, and Don Wondell and Dr. George Bligh of Poplar Bluff will be in charge of the two 39- foot boats. Boys accepted for the trip must have earned their lifesaving merit badge. The fee will be between $360 and $400 per person.

Cliff Manlove of Dexter, training chairman, announced that applications for the junior leader development training program June 9-15 at Camp Lewallen must be in the scout office by May 24.

The board voted to send three district scout executives to the wood badge training course in Waterloo, Ill., July 27 through Aug. 3. The course is for adult scout leaders.

Ken Miles of Dexter, Exploring chairman, reported that the Explorer presidents association meeting was held April 6 in Sikeston. At the meeting plans were announced for a road rally to be held June 15-16 from Poplar Bluff to Sikeston. Miles also announced that an outdoor event is scheduled for Explorer Scouts Aug. 10 at Lake Wappapello.

William Bahn of Cape Girardeau announced that a fund- raising campaign has begun for the Current River leadership training expedition.

Reports were heard from representatives of the various districts: Dr. George Ladyman of Poplar Bluff, Osage District; Bill Colston of Caruthersville, Seminole District; L. D. Fish of Lilbourn, Sioux District; Dr. R. A. Ritter of Cape Girardeau, Shawnee District; and John Peel of Sikeston, Okeechobee District. Peel announced that Tony Heckemeyer and Mike Smith are new members of the advancement committee, and Al Salembier is a new member of the camping committee. All are from Sikeston.

The board voted to hire Larry Sparks of Ironton as new Shawnee District executive.

HALLIBURTON IS LOOKING FOR THE UNCOMMON INDIVIDUAL— COULD IT BE YOU?

Halliburton Services is looking for ambitious individuals with these qualifications: 21 or over, in good health, high school education or the equivalent, some mechanical aptitude and the desire to get ahead in life.

We are the world's largest oil field service organization and recently the demand for our services has come close to exceeding the supply.

So we've set up a training program lasting about eight months to train capable people to work as oil well cementers, one of the basic oil field services required by oil and gas producers. When you complete this training you are assigned to Halliburton locations either in the U.S. or foreign countries.

During the classroom training you receive excellent pay as well as all lodging, meals and transportation. After completing training and starting as a cementer, you'll get a salary increase and moving costs to your new location.

If you go abroad you'll also get living and family housing allowances and a differential pay increase. There are important tax advantages, too.

Our work is truly unusual. Every assignment is different. A cementer works outside with big, high-powered equipment. The responsibility is yours.

If you're interested, Halliburton Services representatives are interviewing from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at the Ramada Inn, Interstate 55 at U.S. 62, Sikeston, telephone (314) 471-4700. Appointments are not necessary and your family is welcome. Contact Felix Moody, Room 101, Ramada Inn.
We can arrange interviews at other hours, too.

Blankenship masters MHS

MATTHEWS — Coach N. P. McDaniel's Sikeston Bulldogs tuned up for next week's district baseball playoffs with a 10-0 romp of the Matthews Pirates Tuesday afternoon for their seventh win in ten games this season.

SHS faces Fredericktown at VFW stadium Monday in an opening round district encounter, but face the district's top seeded Cape Central Tigers in a regular scheduled match there today at 4 p.m.

Richard Blankenship hurled four and two thirds innings of no hit ball and then retired in the sixth with a one hitter while his mates backed his performance with 11 safties. Blankenship worked six frames, allowing one hit, fanning 11 while facing only 19 batters. Mitch Walker went the final inning, allowing one hit, fanning two and facing four batters. MHS had only three base runners during the game and none got past second base.

Armond Porter and Rick Daniels collected Matthews' only hits of the game while Kenny Stokes and Bruce Lawrence connected for a pair of safties for SHS. Stokes had three runs batted in and John Leible knocked in a pair.

SHS jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first and put the game out of reach with eight big tallies in the second before closing out their scoring with a single run in the third.

Coach McDaniel used 18 players in the game and showed off his teams speed by stealing five bases. Greg Colwick swiped two.

The Jaycees agreed Tuesday night to head a league and to sponsor a team.

Cleam Beal, who presented the idea to the Jaycees, said a survey is being conducted now to find out how many boys may be expected to play in the league.

The league will start with four or six teams, depending on the response.

Beal said current plans call for the league to furnish uniforms and playing gear, except for shoes, mouthpieces and athletic supporters.

He said there will be 25 boys per team.

Beal said parents will also be asked to buy insurance for the players before competition begins.

Beal said Floyd Williams, a former Alabama resident now living in Sikeston has been helping establish the league. Williams is familiar with peewee league football, Beal said.

Save 10¢. And let your taste settle the salad dressing question, once and for all.

In salad dressing, it's flavor that counts. Miracle Whip Salad Dressing's lively fresh flavor comes from a special blend of spices and a blending secret that is Kraft's alone. Miracle Whip is perfect just the way it is. Once you compare it with some of the "me-too" dressings we're sure you'll agree, no matter what, there's only one Miracle Whip. And that's why Miracle Whip makes a sandwich, a salad, seafood or cold cuts taste so fresh and lively. And why Miracle Whip is America's favorite salad dressing.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Baseball's Lou Brock, for all his feats, admits he's still probing new horizons in the National League.

The 34-year-old St. Louis Cardinals star swiped three bases Tuesday night in an 8-2 romp over the Houston Astros.

"But you have to take them as they come," emphasized Brock, whose steals boosted his major league leading total to 11 in 17 games.

"I learned a long time ago not to set goals," he added. "You create pressure for yourself that way. I'd rather have the pressure on the other team.

"Still," Brock noted, "I think you'd find from my career record that seldom have I had 30 stolen bases at the All-Star break and seldom have I had even 25.

"I've never had this kind of start, not in base stealing," acknowledged the holder of the major league record for 50 or more thefts nine straight years.

"You don't know from day to day what the situation's going to be. There are times when you get to a base and you know your timing is not good."

For Brock, whose 70 stolen bases in 1973 earned a seventh N.L. title, the workout Tuesday night was a success from the outset.

He was stranded at third base following the theft and flied out in the third. But in the fourth, after Bake McBride's single produced a 4-2 St. Louis lead, he again singled.

Astros catcher John Edwards was on the mark with his throw to second but Brock was there first and later scored on Reggie Smith's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth he doubled with one out, scooted to third on a wide Don Wilson pitch and trotted home on Ted Sizemore's single over third.

His laurels many, Brock was asked the inevitable question of whether the majors record of 104 thefts by Maury Wills in 1962 was out of reach.

"It could be attained," he conjectured, "but not with me. I think to steal 100 bases you've got to steal third base 20 to 25 times a year.

"I don't think we're going to have the kind of season where I'm going to need to steal third that often," Brock predicted, "but I guess if you're caught up in the pressure late anything's possible."

Netmen post shutout

MALDEN--- Coach John Heacox's Sikeston Tennis team made short work of the Malden Green Wave, defeating the Wave 12- 0 Tuesday afternoon.

Matt Matthews opened with a 8- 3 win over Anderson followed by Jeff Robey defeating Wieland 8- 1. Craig Vogle played third and defeated Barker 8- 2.

Prince McDougal took the first eight games to shut out Croon 8- 0. Mark Eaves edged by Paul 10- 8 and Ed Nunnelee rolled over Barrell 8- 3.

In the final two matches Dupont beat Bradshaw 8- 2 and Hesselrode blanked Broyles 8- 0.

In doubles competition, the Bulldog team of Matthews- Medelberg defeated Anderson- Barker 8- 6 followed by a 8- 5 win by Robey- Vogel over Wieland- Gibson.

Bridger and Heeb had to play the extra games to defeat Croom and Broyles 13- 11. Allen and Hesselrode ended the doubles competition with an 8- 4 win over Paul and Bradshaw.

The Bulldogs are now 7- 4 for the season and the final two matches of the regular season will be played Monday and Tuesday.

Monday the Bulldogs will face the highly regarded Poplar Bluff Mules at Poplar Bluff. Tuesday they will host the Malden team in a return match.

BELL CITY— The Bloomfield Wildcats split a double header with the Bell City Cubs Tuesday afternoon in Stoddard County Conference games.

Bloomfield won the first game 10- 2 behind the pitching of Holland, who struck out nine, walked five and allowed two hits. Billy Schieble was charged with the loss for the Cubs. Schieble struck out four, walked five and gave up seven hits.

Bloomfield's Jackson supplied the power behind the plate with a double in the first and a triple in the fifth.

Bloomfield scored three runs in the first inning, two in the third and two in fourth. The Wildcats final runs came in the fifth.

Bell City was unable to score in the first three innings but scored one in both the fourth and fifth innings.

Ricky Surface led the Cubs to a 8- 5 win in the second game. Surface retired three batters, walked four and allowed three hits.

Hanner hurled for the Wildcats allowing eight hits, and eight walks. He also fanned eight batters.

Bloomfield came out in the top of the first scoring two runs only to fall behind 3- 2 going into the second. Both teams were unable to score in the second and third innings.

In the top of the fourth the Wildcats knocked in three runs on a home run by Williams with two men on base to give them a 5- 3 lead. Bell City came back with four runs in the fourth and one in the fifth.

ITHACA, N. Y. — Ben Bluitt, a University of Detroit coach, was named head basketball coach at Cornell University.

Paula Smith

Mrs. Smith cast as Dolly Tate

Paula Kaye Smith, a newcomer to Sikeston Little Theatre, plays the part of Dolly Tate in the organization's newest production, "Annie Get Your Gun."

She will appear in the performances at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Sikeston Activity Center.

Mrs. Smith, the wife of Jim F. Smith and the mother of Shannon, Marianne and Jimmy Paul, is enthusiastic about the musical in particular and Little Theatre in general.

She participated in numerous plays while a student at Dexter High School and was awarded their Notre Masque Award for outstanding dramatic accomplishment. Some of the plays she was involved in were, "Little Women", "Our Hearts were Young and Gay" and "Mooncalf Mugford".

The part of Dolly Tate came to her rather by accident. Mrs. Smith took her three children to the auditions and came home with a leading role. She says she loves every minute of it and wishes she had gotten involved in Little Theatre sooner.

Classical Music in Money Trouble

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

In 1973, there was trouble right here in culture city, to paraphrase a song from musical comedy, with a capital T and that stands for Treasury and that means money.

Orchestra musicians asked for raises, as contracts expired; boards of directors said big raises would put them out of business because they didn't have the money; orchestras struck. The Chicago Symphony's board was afraid those musicians would start the season without a contract, then strike as famed conductor Sir Georg Solti arrived in mid-October, so that season didn't start until the contract was signed Oct. 13.

The New York Philharmonic played four concerts, then struck for 10 weeks, the musicians booking themselves for a tour in Spain and Portugal while they were out. They settled for $380 in the third year of a three-year contract, the same as Chicago, though they had wanted $10 a week more.

The New York City Opera's orchestra played for three operas, then struck for a month, coming back for $340 in the third year of the contract. The New York City Ballet Dancers, fearful that its orchestra would strike just as Christmastime's popular "Nutcracker" was starting, struck themselves, for 25 days, until the orchestra signed.

Avery Fisher, founder of Fisher Radio, gave Philharmonic Hall a sum said to be between $8,000 and $10,000, for maintenance, and the board was so grateful they renamed the place Avery Fisher Hall.

The Metropolitan Opera announced in September that it was $7,790,000 in debt, despite capacity in the 1972-73 season being 90 per cent and gifts as big as usual. Costs had gone up. So the Met decided not to have new scenery and costumes for "Don Giovanni" this season; not to continue the month-long Mini-Met of chamber operas in a small theater, so successfully started in early 1973; not to give free summer concert performances of opera in city parks, which it started in 1967; and in a couple of years to end the June season in the Met itself, after the spring tour.

The Philadelphia Orchestra went on a tour to China, becoming the first American orchestra to play there since the Communists took power. They played Mozart, Roy Harris, Brahms, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Yellow River Concerto," written by the Central Orchestra Committee of the People's Republic of China.

Nationalist China sent its 73-member National Chinese Opera Theater to tour 30 American cities, for three and a half months, presenting Peking Opera, a tradition which dates back to the 8th century.

The Sydney, Australia, Opera House, estimated in 1957 to take five years and $7 million (Australian money) to build, opened in 1973, having taken 16 years and cost $100 million ($150 American money). Sail-shaped shells jut out from a point of land into Sydney Harbor. It makes a beautiful picture but the opera house seats only 1,550 and there is no place to park nearby. Some say that now Sydney needs an opera house. The 2,700-seat Concert Hall opened with the Sydney Symphony and Birgit Nilsson and the opera house opened with Prokofiev's "War and Peace" conducted by Edward Downes.

The Paris Opera opened in the spring, after a year closed, with Rolf Liebermann, 62, who is Swiss and most recently headed the modern-music oriented Hamburg Opera, as administrator and Sir Georg Solti, a British citizen, as music adviser. Some Frenchmen thought the two should have been Frenchmen, but after "Orfeo ed Euridice," "Le Nozze di Figaro," "Parsifal" and "Il Trovatore," the feeling grew that the Paris Opera might really have been saved from its previous increasing decay. This year the Paris Opera received a state subsidy of more than $13 million, half the total national budget for music. The Ministry for Cultural Affairs got .50 per cent of the national budget, with its music department getting one-tenth of that.

Sol Hurok announced that he would bring the Bolshoi Opera to the United States for the first time in 1975. Dmitri Shostakovich visited the United States in 1973 to accept an honorary doctorate from Northwestern University. While he was in New York, the 66-year-old Russian composer attended the New York Philharmonic's first rug concert — in which the orchestra section of the hall had the seats removed and was carpeted for floor sitting. Shostakovich sat in the first balcony, in a chair.

Benjamin Britten's new opera, "Death in Venice," was highly acclaimed at the Aldeburgh Festival in England and later at the Royal Opera in Covent Garden. In 1974 it will be seen at the Met.

The International Congress of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences commissioned an opera from Gian-Carlo Menotti for its convention in Chicago. Menotti wrote "Tamu-Tamu," about an Indonesian family dislocated into an American apartment, which he said was about "one species, many cultures." Menotti, 62, said he is thinking about retiring.

The Perkins Engines Co. commissioned Krzysztof Penderecki's "First Symphony," which was performed in the cathedral in Peterborough, England, where the company is the biggest employer — and also the biggest commissioner of cultural works.

The Chicago Lyric Opera commissioned Penderecki, 39, to write an opera for the American bicentennial celebration. The American Music Center, on behalf of its members, protested that instead of a Polish composer it should have been an American.

There was nudity in "Tamu-Tamu" in Chicago — the Indonesian soprano inspiring the American soprano to imitation, according to the plot. And in New Orleans, Carol Neblett, 27, was nude in "Thais." Strippers of the city, who are legally denied nudity, protested.

The Sadler's Wells Opera in London gave Wagner's Ring operas in English.

Maria Callas, 50, whose last public singing appearances were in 1965, started a tour in Europe with tenor Giuseppe de Stefano. The critics were not enchanted.

Cellist Jacqueline du Pre, 28, who had canceled her concerts for a season in 1971 because of nervous exhaustion, was diagnosed as having multiple sclerosis. Her husband, conductor and pianist Daniel Barenboim, canceled some touring to spend more time with her.

Among those who died this year were Pablo Casals, 96, master cellist and conductor for eight decades; Lauritz Melchior, 82, probably the greatest dramatic tenor ever; Elaine Shaffer, 47, leading lady of flutists; a guardian of the classical tradition in violin playing, Joseph Szigeti, 80; Herbert Graf, 69, one of the opera world's most sought after directors; conductor Otto Klemperer, 88, known for his intellectual, solemn approach; conductor Istvan Kertesz, 43, music director of the Cologne Opera; soprano Jennie Tourel, 63, who fled from the Paris Opera-Comique in World War II and became a leading U.S. recitalist; Bruce Yarnell, 35, who went from musical comedy roles to the San Francisco Opera, with an upcoming contract for Covent Garden.

CASUAL ELEGANCE — Two-part separates by Glenora Jrs. of comfort-borne, pure cotton "fade-out" corduroy from Cone Mills. Slim-fitted vest tops floral print shirt and long "renovated" jeans-skirt with V-insert and patch pockets.

Speaking of compacts ....

This is probably going too far even for the busy housewife who doesn't want frills, just a basic car, please. Actually, this is a "slingshot dragster," a mini version developed in California for those who want the thrill of dragracing without the full-sized, fire-breathing racers. Valerie Jungck shows how it's done.

Larry Lancaster

Sikeston man named manager of hog market

A native of Sikeston has been named manager of the Heinold Hog Market at Bloomfield.

Larry Lancaster, a 1971 graduate of Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau, was assigned to the Bloomfield market last March. He joined Heinold Jan. 1 and received management training at Heinold markets at Brookport and Maple Park, Ill., and Burlington, Ind.

Lancaster graduated from Sikeston High School and after receiving a degree from Southeast Missouri State he spent two years working at the University of Missouri Delta Center in soybean research at Portageville.

Lancaster and his wife Cathy have one child, Kathryn, 3, and the family lives in Sikeston.

The Bloomfield market is one of 63 operated by Heinold in seven states. Heinold, the world's largest nonpacker buyer of hogs, purchased more than 3.75 million hogs from farmers in 1973 and sold them to more than 75 packers across the nation.

Local distributors attend convention

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCain, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Goetz, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hampton and Mrs. James Spurlin of Sikeston attended the regional Shaklee convention April 12 and 13 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

The convention was for distributors and supervisors of Shaklee products, which are natural organic products.

Brown, assistant treasurer all live in Blytheville.

In addition to other business, Smith gave a report on the status of the company's $16- million electric generating plant.

The 179,000- kilowatt plant, he said, is scheduled for final testing about May 20, "and, since everything is on schedule, we still plan to put the plant into commercial operations June 1."

Preliminary testing of the generating facility's components already is underway, Smith said, adding that the 55,000- barrel oil storage tank is completed.

"We expect to begin receiving fuel oil at the plant the week of May 6," he said.

With the new plant in operation, Smith said Ark-Mo., for the first time in its history, will be able to supply its own power needs.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Defensive standout Bill Stanfill of the Miami Dolphins was once an expert at hunting rattlesnakes in Georgia.

"We used to have rattlesnake roundups," says Stanfill. "We would hunt them down deep holes. You take a water hose and stick it down there and if the rattlers are down there you would hear them through the hose. Then you put a few teaspoons of gasoline down there and it drives them out. You take a hook and just drop 'em in a sack. The secret is going with someone who knows what he's doing."

Cape man cited for excellence

CAPE GIRARDEAU— Martin G. Schnare of Cape Girardeau, district representative for Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), recently was cited for his excellent sales and service to members. That achievement during fiscal year 1973 qualified him for the society's President's Club.

AAL is a fraternal life and health insurance society headquartered in Appleton, Wis. Life insurance in force among AAL's more than one million members throughout the U. S. exceeds $6.5 billion.

While in Portgual the agents toured Lisbon, Sintra, Estoril, Caiscais and some of the inland areas.

JAZZ, SYMPHONY IN TABERNACLE

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The Utah Symphony gave the world premier of Billy Taylor's "Suite for Jazz Piano and Orchestra" with the composer playing piano.

The performance was at the Mormon Tabernacle.

Rhyne is top salesman

Roy Rhyne, 312 Cravens St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rhyne Sr., 843 Lora St., was not only the top salesman in his insurance company's mid- continent division, but in the United States as well, during a recent special sales week. Rhyne, area manager for Combined Insurance Co., wrote 207 policies during one week and broke his personal weekly sales record. He also set a new regional daily sales record by selling 80 policies in one day. Rhyne has been with the company for three years.

Electricians attend course

PORTAGEVILLE— A National Electric Code course held its opening session Thursday night with professional electricians from Cape Girardeau to Blytheville, Ark., participating in discussions of practical applications and needs for a National Electric Code.

Fred M. Crawford, a specialist in farm and home electrification, interpreted the needs and means of having fire resistant construction of homes and other buildings. He stated that the code represents the best material from the brains of the industry.

Milton Kelley of Kelley Electric in Kennett and Richard Barnes, code enforcement officer from Blytheville, contributed information from their experience in the field. Barnes told the group taking the course that 26 states presently adhere to the code.

Occupational Safety and Health Act requirements for all buildings were discussed. Crawford shared 1974 stipulations which must be met in order to comply with OSHA regulations.

Enrollees are still being accepted for the course which is to meet each Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. through May 23. A certificate from the University of Missouri Extension Division will be presented to each student who attends a minimum of five sessions.

INDUSTRY WASTES FUEL

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP) — The amount of fuel used to produce compressed air that is wasted by industry would heat a community of some 200,000 persons for a year, according to a survey made here.

"About 10 per cent of the compressed air used by 1.2 million industrial and service establishments in the United States is being lost, according to our plant surveys," says Donald Sicklesteel, vice president of Scovill's Fluid Power Division, a maker of air control equipment.

'Buy discounted bonds now'

By CROCKETT SCOTT

"An honest man's word is as good as his bond."

....Cervantes

From Chicago and Cleveland bond houses comes word that now may be a propitious time to buy deeply discounted bonds for long-term appreciation, as well as interest.

YOUR SEC- registered representative could go down the list of better quality corporates and municipals to help you make a selection.

With the stock market continuing to tread water, bonds of moderate to better quality have appeal as a relatively safe place for funds, in the opinion of seasoned investment counselors.

A Kansas City investment analyst cautions that the bond buyer should talk to a bond specialist, however, to assure that he is getting the best quality available for his money.

He likes municipals particularly at this time, when the money generated is to be used to build a facility for a top- rated corporation.

This representative called attention to a new municipal bond issue which has been mentioned recently by the investment banking firm of Howard, Weil, Labouisse, Freidrichs, Inc., of New Orleans.

It is a tax- free municipal for East Baton Parish, La., a $110 million issue to finance pollution control equipment for Exxon Corp. The bonds which were scheduled to come to market on April 24th were to be rated AAA by both Standard & Poor's and Moody's, with a probable yield of 5.75 per cent or higher.

For persons in a 28 per cent income tax bracket, these bonds actually yield 7.9 per cent; for a 38 per cent bracket, the yield is 9.27 per cent; for a 50 per cent bracket, the yield is 11.50 per cent; for a 62 per cent bracket, 15.13 per cent.

Howard Weil says these bonds are the highest tax free securities ever issued in Louisiana, except public housing authority bonds.

Thus, as can be seen, this opportunity is exceptional from the standpoint of both interest earned and safety; in that the funds are to be used for such a gilt- edge corporation as Exxon.

Electric utility bonds is another area of investment which some St. Louis investment banking firms like currently, despite high interest rates.

Utility bonds decline as interest rates rise-- as old bonds are sold to buy new.

Thus bond houses note that the newer bonds and the very new--- the new issues with high premiums and old bonds selling at deep discounts— both are potentially good if the utilities are serving growing substantially sound industrial or agricultural communities.

The high cost of labor and the high cost of money, of course, cut into profits of utilities, just as they do to other industrial enterprise; though the cost of money particularly has a direct bearing on an expanding utility in which profits are controlled by a state authority.

Utility preferreds and common stocks also are deeply depressed; and in the view of numerous professionals, worthy of consideration for possible purchase.

Where the market goes from this point forward very well may be dependent upon the eventual outcome of the Mideast turbulence, in the opinion of a great many Midwestern stock market analysts.

The rate of inflation may have a more immediate effect on the stock market, it is concluded. But the outcome of the Mideast impasse is basic to the control of inflation, it is reminded. A flare- up in the fighting, and with it the threat of a world war, could obliterate all hope for controlling the buying power of currencies every place on the globe.

Bell Telephone to increase pensions

To help retired employes cope with inflation, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s board of directors has approved a special increase in pensions, according to Mike Smith, manager of the firm's operations in Sikeston who said the increase will be paid to all retired employes whose pensions were in effect Dec. 31, 1973, and will be retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year.

Pensioners will receive the first payment at the end of May, when they also will receive the four- month increase to cover the January to April retroactive amount.

More than 11,600 Southwestern Bell retirees are affected.

The special increases will be .3 per cent of a retired employe's current pension for each full or partial month of retirement from Oct. 1, 1971 to Dec. 31, 1973.

EAST PRAIRIE — Home- baked cakes have long been the favorite dessert and between meal snacks for my three menfolk. While I'm not an expert in the baking field, they always seem to enjoy the end result of my efforts and manage to devour a cake before it hardly has time to cool for icing. This may be due in part to my not baking quite as often as I did before becoming a working homemaker.

I marvel at homemakers who can use the pinch and dab method of measuring when baking, but for me, I have to exactly follow the recipe, a holdover I suspect from Home Ec during my high school days under Mrs. Ruby Franks. While I sometimes use the convenient cake mixes, it's more rewarding to see my own "scratch" cake turn out with eye-appeal and good taste. What better compliment can you receive than "Mom, cut me another piece."

Shirley Pritchett

YELLOW SPONGE CAKE
five eggs
½ cup cold water
1½ cup flour
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp salt
3/4 tsp. cream of tartar

Beat egg yolks, add water and beat four minutes; add sugar and beat another minute. Add sifted dry ingredients, then fold in beaten egg whites to which cream of tartar has been added.

Bake one hour in tube pan at 325 degrees. Let hang one hour before removing from pan and icing.

100 DOLLAR CAKE
½ cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 whole eggs
1 heaping tsp. soda dissolved in ¼ cup warm water
2/3 cup cocoa dissolved in ½ cup boiling water
1 cup buttermilk
2½ cups flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla.

Bake at 320 degrees in loaf pan, 350 degrees if using layer pans until springy. Nuts may also be added.

ICING FOR 100 DOLLAR CAKE
4 tbp. softened butter
1 whole egg
½ cup cocoa
1 box powdered sugar

Mix above and soften with enough milk to make proper consistency for spreading. Add 1 tsp. vanilla and 1 cup chopped nuts.

This recipe for Applesauce Cake is another which is good unfrosted or frosted. It's very tasty and moist and will keep at least a week. (Anywhere but at my house.)

APPLESAUCE CAKE
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cloves
1½ cups applesauce
1 cup chopped dates
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Add to egg mixture with rest of ingredients and mix well. Pour into well- greased 10 inch tube pan and bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes.

Lazy Daisy topping can turn your favorite recipe, cake mix, or bakery cake into something a little special.

LAZY DAISY CAKE TOPPING
1 cup shredded coconut
2/3 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
9-inch square baked cake

Mix coconut, sugar, milk and butter. Spread over top of cake and place under the broiler until brown and bubbling.

BUSY-DAY CAKE
1/3 cup salad oil
1 3/4 cups sifted cake flour
3/4 cup sugar
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 egg
3/4 cup milk
1½ tsp. vanilla

Sift together four, ½ cup sugar, baking powder and salt. Add salad oil, milk, and vanilla; stir till all flour is dampened, then beat until satin smooth (2 minutes at medium speed on mixer). Beat egg till thick and light (3 mins. at high speed on mixer). Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar, beating constantly. Fold egg mixture thoroughly into batter and bake in paper-lined 9x9x3 pan in 375- degree oven about 25 minutes.

OH AND AH CAKE
3 one-oz. squares of unsweetened chocolate
1 cup boiling water
1 tsp. red food color
1½ tsp. baking soda
½ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
½ tsp. salt
3 eggs
2½ cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sour cream

Melt chocolate in boiling water. Add food coloring and baking soda; cream shortening, sugar, salt and eggs until fluffy. Add flour alternately with cream. Add chocolate mixture and beat at medium speed for one minute.

Pour into greased and floured 13x9x2 inch pan and bake for 45 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Your favorite chocolate icing or the following caramel icing is delicious on this cake.

CARAMEL ICING
2 cups brown sugar
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup butter
2/3 cup milk
2 tsp. vanilla
2 tablespoon cream.

Mix sugar, salt, butter and milk together and stir until boiling; continue boiling until it reaches the soft ball stage (234 degrees). Cool until luke warm.

Put into small mixing bowl and beat until thickened. Add vanilla and cream and continue beating until of spreading consistency. If a thicker icing is desired, beat in a little sifted confectioner's sugar.

The basic ingredient in this Rainbow Cake recipe is a box of yellow cake mix. Fruit-flavored gelatin of your choice adds a new twist and varies the coloring and flavor. Try cherry gelatin for a Washington's birthday cake and, for the Irish, lime gelatin with a green tinted frosting adds much to a St. Patrick's Day theme.

RAINBOW CAKE
1 box yellow cake mix
3 oz. box lemon gelatin
3/4 cup water
½ cup salad oil
4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
juice of one lemon
pinch of salt.

Beat all ingredients until smooth and creamy (about three minutes). Pour into greased 10-inch tube pan and bake for 45-50 minutes in 350-degree oven.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE
2/3 cup soft butter or margarine
1 3/4 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2½ 1-oz squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2½ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
1¼ cups ice water

Cream together butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla till fluffy (beat five minutes at high speed on mixer, scraping bowl occasionally to guide batter into beaters; or beat five minutes by hand). Blend in cooled chocolate. Sift together flour, soda and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with ice water beginning and ending with flour; beat after each addition.

Bake in 2 paper- lined 9-inch round pans for 30-35 minutes in 350-degree oven.

CHOCOLATE SATIN FROSTING
3½ one-oz squares unsweetened chocolate
3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
4½ tablespoons hot water
1 egg
½ cup soft butter or margarine
1½ tsp. vanilla

Melt chocolate in mixing bowl over hot water. Remove from heat. With electric mixer blend in sugar and water. Beat in egg, then butter and vanilla. Frosting will be thin at this point, so place bowl in ice water; beat till spreading consistency. Will frost tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Fish fillets are served with noodles

FISH FILLETS PAPRIKA

Tomatoes and noodles embellish this dish.

6 fresh or frozen fish fillets, 1 to 1¼ pounds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
2 medium tomatoes, each cut into 6 wedges
Salt and pepper
4 ounces medium egg noodles, about 4 cups
8-ounce container sour cream
1 tablespoon paprika

Thaw fish if frozen. Roll up each fillet and secure with toothpicks. Place rolls flat on well-greased broiler-pan rack; brush with butter. Place tomato wedges on rack; brush with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat source for 5 to 7 minutes. Carefully turn rolls and brush with butter; broil until fish flakes easily and looks opaque — 5 to 8 minutes longer; remove picks. Meanwhile cook noodles according to package directions and drain; over low heat toss noodles with sour cream and paprika; serve with fish and tomatoes. Makes 6 servings.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Well, Spring has come to our neck of the woods again; and again, like each and every year I am once more awed by the sight, and the sound, and the smell, and the feel of her. How can anyone who's ever paused to look at a cluster of dogwood trees bursting into bloom as they do all over our state; how can they listen to a cardinal happily calling to his mate one morning with the dew still sparkling on the blades of grass outside their window; how could one breath in the scent of tulips and jasmine with their delicate aroma; or how could one touch a fern or feel a raindrop on one's face and not know God.

Surely, here in the Spring of each year, even the most non-believer must feel somewhere a stirring and a pulsing in his blood that quickens at the sight of a new born calf struggling to his feet for the first time, or, as he watches a bird carrying wisps of straw and string back and forth to make a nest- surely, even that non-believer must know God, by whatever name he chooses to give Him. And, if one takes the time to look, is Spring really any more beautiful than a snowflake in the Winter; or a tree turned golden in the Autumn; or a fish breaking the placid stillness of a lake in Summer? Isn't it true that no matter what the season, or where you look you are constantly faced with the miracle of Creation; for everywhere, in all the lands, there are children, and are they not the most supreme miracle of all? Now, you close your eyes; now, open them again to all the world — I ask you, do you not know God?

Today in U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, April 24, the 114th day of 1974. There are 251 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1704, the first American newspaper printed on a regular basis, the "Boston News Letter" was published for the first time.

On this date—

In 1743, the Englishman who invented the power loom, Edmund Cartwright, was born.

In 1800, the U.S. Congress appropriated $5,000 to create the Library of Congress.

In 1877, Northern rule in the South ended as federal troops were ordered removed from New Orleans.

In 1898, Spain declared war on the United States after receiving an American ultimatum to withdraw from Cuba.

In 1953, Sir Winston Churchill was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II.

Ten years ago ... Cuba asked the United Nations to take action to halt U.S. reconnaissance flights over Cuba.

Five years ago ... Jordan's Premier Rashid Kasrami resigned amid a dispute over the government's restrictions on Palestinian guerrillas.

One year ago ... the Japanese government declined an American invitation to Emperor Hirohito to visit the United States.

Today's birthday: Barbra Streisand is 32 years old.

Thought for today: Neutrality, as a lasting principle, is an evidence of weakness—Louis Kossuth, Hungarian patriot, 1802-1894.

The island of Corsica's notorious bandits were mythicized as men of honor — men who had killed for personal reasons. Killing for gain was almost unheard of.

Nixon asks foreign aid totaling $5 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today asked Congress for $5.18 billion in foreign aid money, including $250 million to help Egypt clear the Suez Canal, repair war damage in adjacent cities and restore trade with the United States.

At the same time, Nixon asked for $350 million in military support for Israel and $207.5 million for Jordan.

He said the United States "can and should play a constructive role in securing a just and durable peace in the Middle East by facilitating increased understanding between the Arab nations and Israel ..."

The President also requested $939.8 million to assist South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos "in their efforts to shift their economies from war to peace and to accelerate the reconstitution of their societies."

All the money, including a special $100 million Mideast fund for peacekeeping forces, refugee aid and development projects, would be for the fiscal year tat begins July 1.

Congress' response is uncertain, although one member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has said he is opposed "to reverting again to that old habit of trying to outbid the Soviet Union in securing Egypt's friendship."

Nixon's request for Egypt accelerates the fast-building change in relations between the two countries.

The two countries restored full diplomatic contacts last week after a 6½ year break and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger Anwar Sadat of Egypt for Arab support in working out settlements with Israel.

On Sunday he begins his fifth tour of the region since the Arab-Israeli war last October, seeking a disengagement between Israeli and Syrian forces in the Golan Heights.

"The hope for a lasting solution to the Arab-Israeli dispute is stronger today than at any time in the previous quarter century," Nixon told Congress in proposing a special assistance program for the Middle East.

"American diplomatic initiatives have helped create the conditions necessary for an end to conflict and violence. While our diplomatic efforts must and will continue, there is already much that can be done to supplement and consolidate what has been achieved so far," he said.

While Israel and Jordan would get military aid, Egypt's $250 million would be entirely economic.

In Indochina, Nixon said, U.S. aid "is no less crucial" to achieve a peace that "pects our interests and reflects our past involvement" in the area.

Nixon said he was seeking a boost in economic aid for Indochina from the $450 million appropriated by Congress for this year in order to "permit the development of viable, selfsupporting economies" that will need reduced U.S. aid a few years from now.

South Vietnam, he said, faces an unusually difficult task rebuilding its economy and caring for its war-torn population, including the resettlement of more than one million refugees and displaced persons.

In Laos, he said, a peaceful political solution is now in motion, but there are remaining problems of resettling refugees and establishing a working economy.

Nixon also proposed repeal of a provision under current law prohibiting U.S. aid to Egypt unless the President convinces Congress that the aid is in the national interest.

Some $34 million has gone to Cairo over the last two years despite the restriction.

Sikeston police cited for reducing crime in 1973

The police department has been given a merit award by the National Crime Prevention Foundation of Washington, D. C., for achieving a reduction in reported crime in 1973.

The award is presented when a city obtains a reduction in one or more areas of crime. Sikeston had reductions in four areas in 1973.

Reductions in 1973 were in the areas of armed robbery, felonious assault, burglary and thefts of less than $50. There was an overall decrease of 4.4 per cent in crimes reported in Sikeston.

Police Chief Leon Culp said he is proud of the department for earning the award, which is Sikeston's first.

The award reads, "In recognition of your effective prevention effort that has resulted in lower incidence rate in one or more areas of crime, proving that impartial, but strick law enforcement in your community can save life and property as well as deter acts of crime and violence against our citizens."

Police plan bike safety campaign

The police department will begin another bicycle safety drive in May to educate children and adults on the proper way to operate a bicycle.

May is National Bicycle Safety Month.

In 1973 six persons were reported injured in bicycle accidents in Sikeston, police said. All were children under 14 years old.

Police estimate that there are about 5,000 bicycles in Sikeston. Bicycle dealers here have reported their sales more than doubled this year, police said.

Besides safety measures, the police will show children ways to prevent the theft of their bicycles. Last year 102 bicycles were reported stolen. July produced the most thefts, with 27 bikes being taken. Some of the bikes taken in 1973 were recovered by police.

The department has a voluntary registration program which helps identify recovered bicycles, if the serial numbers are on file. There are currently 500 bikes on file.

Truck falls through bridge

Larry Sloan, the driver of this Sikeston Concrete Products Co. truck, probably isn't a believer in the adage of "the third time's a charm," after his truck fell through a wooden bridge south of Parma Tuesday morning at 8:30. Two other company trucks had crossed the structure with materials to pour a floor for a steel building before Solan's vehicle failed to make it across. (Daily Standard photo)

Hall pleads guilty, draws 2-year prison sentence

NEW MADRID— Jackie Hall of Risco was sentenced Tuesday in Circuit Court to concurrent two- year terms in the custody of the Department of Corrections when he pleaded guilty to burglary and larceny charges before Judge William L. Ragland.

Hall was charged with breaking into B and R Grocery in Risco on Dec. 24, 1973, and stealing merchandise valued at $75.

Four petitions for dissolution of marriage were approved.

Marriages ordered dissolved include Nellie Ann Silman of Marston and Robert Junior Silman; Jack Edward Tisher and Patsy S. Tisher of New Madrid; Shirley A. McArthur and Juanita McArthur; and Virginia Lee House of Portageville and Luther Harold House Jr., with Mrs. House awarded custody of two children, subject to reasonable visitation rights for House, who was ordered to pay $30 per week per child for support.

Leonard J. Armstrong of Parma was ordered to pay $25 per month child support to Edna S. Armstrong of Florida in proceedings filed by Mrs. Armstrong under the Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement Support Act.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. was awarded $5,737.36 judgment against William H. Deane Jr., New Madrid County collector of revenue, for refund of school taxes paid under protest.

St. Louis Southwestern Railway Co. was granted $2,531.11 judgment in a similar case against Deane.

By stipulation and agreement, a change of venue order on April 9 transferring a felonious stealing charge against Dennis Wilson of Sikeston to Scott County was set aside and the case was transferred to Pemiscot County.

Wilson is accused of stealing automobile parts on Oct. 4, 1973, which the Scott County sheriff's department had stored as evidence in a case against him pending in Scott County.

Dashing thief grabs cigars

A young man, about 20 years old, reportedly dashed into Gun Smoke Shop, 521 Greer St., about 3:45 p.m. Tuesday and dashed back outside with two or three cigars.

Manager Mike Fansler told police he was in the back of the store when the youth came in, grabbed the cigars and ran outside. The cigars were valued at 35 cents each.

Fansler told police he later found four cigars outside behind the store, but police did not say if these were the cigars the youth took.

Prairie man seriously hurt

An East Prairie man was seriously injured and three persons received lesser injuries in four area traffic accidents Tuesday and early today, according to the highway patrol.

Frankie Eugene Davenport, 23, suffered serious injuries at 1 a.m. today when his car ran off Highway 61 three miles south of Sikeston at a high rate of speed and struck a utility pole.

He was taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston.

Timothy A. Machen, 16, of Bernie was injured at 8:25 a.m. Tuesday two miles west of Bernie on Route U, when his westbound pickup sideswiped another pickup parked on the shoulder of the road and occupied by Cletus C. Brown, 72, of Bernie.

Machen was taken to Lucy Lee Hospital in Poplar Bluff for treatment of minor injuries.

Bloyce Valentine, 23, of Gulfport, Miss., was injured at 10 a.m. Tuesday six miles south of Hayti on Highway 61 when the northbound car in which he was riding struck another northbound car driven by Quentin Reed, 54, of Sikeston.

The patrol said Reed attempted to make a left turn from the east shoulder and pulled into the path of a car driven by Conrad Tolby, 19, of Gulfport.

Valentine was taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Webb said he first saw the car at 1:30 a.m. in Oran when it drove by with only one headlight and no front license plates. Webb said he lost track of the car, but later stopped it near the Knights of Columbus Hall on Highway 77 in Oran.

Dexter to host firefighting school 2 days

DEXTER — Dexter will host a school on firefighting techniques sponsored by the University of Missouri Firemanship Education Division Saturday and Sunday.

Courses offered in the two-day school will be basic firemanship, firemanship II and fire service rescue.

The school will be held at Dexter's new fire station from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. Dexter Fire Chief Al Banken will serve as host.

All firemen — volunteers or professional — may attend the meeting. There will be a $3 registration fee.

Sikeston Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer said he has asked the city's volunteers to attend the school. He said he hopes to leave a contingent of firemen in town and take the rest of the volunteers to Dexter.

Natural gas curtailments lifted

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Natural gas curtailments imposed last winter on municipal power plants and larger industries have been lifted, according to John H. Germain, Arkansas- Missouri Power Co. vice president in charge of gas operations.

However, Germain warned today that even stricter curtailments can be expected next winter because of short natural gas supplies.

Germain made the announcement in a letter mailed to the customers whose service had been curtailed and to its Missouri subsidiary, Associated Natural Gas Co.

The curtailment release, he said, is effective until Aug. 31, the date the company's gas supply year ends.

Germain said a moderate winter, and customer cooperation in conserving fuel, were the reasons for the lifting of the curtailments.

"The winter was the second mildest in the past 10 years," he said, "and in terms of heating requiremtnts, 14 per cent below average."

"The response to our plea for conservation was little short of amazing. It appears that gas used for heating homes and small businesses was 10 per cent below the normal pattern."

Because of that, he said, "we now find we have more gas available for the period from now to Aug. 31 than could have been anticipated. There may not be sufficient gas to operate our own power plant as much as we'd like to, but our studies indicate that our customers may expect to operate to Aug. 31 of this year without further curtailment to them."

"We certainly are not advocating any waste," Germain said, "but each customer may take his normal requirement without fear of being penalized."

Germain said the company is waiving the penalty provision of its tariff for the gas supply year ending Aug. 31.

He said Ark-Mo's tariff calls for a penalty to be imposed on customers who exceed their annual gas entitlement. The penalty, he said, is strictly a tool to enforce curtailments as they may be required.

"It is not a device to increase earnings," Germain said.

Annual gas entitlements form the company's pipeline suppliers expire Aug. 31, he said.

"Unfortunately, there is every indication that curtailments in our supply will be greater," Germain said.

"It appears that, beginning Sept. 1, it will be necessary to impose 100 per cent curtailment on all municipal power plants and a partial curtailment of the area's largest industries, a total of about 14 firms," he said.

"The weather, curtailments in our pipeline supplies and the effectiveness of conservation are the factors that will affect our ability to supply industry's full needs next year," Germain said.

DID WE LEARN ANYTHING?

America is just now coming out of a severe gasoline shortage.

The lines at the service stations have disappeared. The restrictions on the hours the stations may sell gas have been lifted, and you can get enough gas to go about anywhere you want to in the United States.

The one big change in the picture is that fuel costs more now and there are indications that the price will rise still higher in the future.

We never did get down to the ultimate desperation of gas rationing, with coupons and all its ills, but we did fumble through a period of fuel allocation which is a cousin to rationing. Allocations were handled with the usual governmental boo-boos and are now finally being raised to sensible levels, only because more fuel is available.

The real individual who saved the day, however, was the patriotic American who formed car pools, used public transportation, cut out much of his pleasure driving, and cut down on the use of fuel and electricity in his home and office.

The government introduced daylight saving time on a national basis, which didn't save enough fuel to help any, and set the speed limit at 55 miles per hour.

Cutting back the speed limit caused hardship to truckers but it did save some gas and it did save lives and cut down on accidents.

At the same time the American people were struggling with the gas shortage, they also had to fight a food shortage. To meet this problem they changed their eating habits and began to raise their own food.

With these examples fresh in our minds, the big question is whether the American people learned that we cannot sustain our standard of living if we keep on wasting our natural resources. And, have we learned that governmental controls can never take the place of good common sense exercised by the citizens of the United States?

We sincerely hope we have learned these two lessons so well that our economy will be given a chance to return to the healthy normal operation of the free enterprise system.

LAWN WATERING ECONOMY

By the time you are seventy years old, if you're an average American, you will have used 26 million tons of water. Along with all our other energy problems, the diminishing quantity and quality of water is becoming an increasing concern.

Because all the products with which they work depend on a proper use of water, the people of the American Association of Nurserymen have a great interst in providing practical instructions for its best application and preservation.

Most people are more likely to overwater their trees, plants, shrubs, and grass than to provide insufficient moisture. The people of the nursery industry advocate thorough watering when it is needed, rather than frequent limited watering. This is much better for the plant, less costly, too — and saves water. The simplest way to tell when water is needed is to examine the soil at a depth of several inches. If it seems dry at that point, put on water. If it is even slightly moist, wait.

The people of the nursery industry make another point. Water from your property travels eventually, in one way or another, to our rivers and streams and carries along with it soil and sediment from your land to add to the water problem. You can prevent his from happening by planting grass or attractive groundcovers on any sloping area from which water will be running off.

If our water is an endangered resource, as the ecologists say, steps such as these taken by every individual will be a long-term investment.

HOW TO BE LATE ON TIME

With an assist from the gasoline shortage, Amtrak, the national railroad passenger system, racked up a 28 per cent gain in patronage in January over the same month a year ago. The increase was reflected in all parts of the country as a total of 1,423,000 people took the train.

Amtrak also reports a much improved on-time performance record. Unfortunately, as the United Transportation Union points out in a recent newsletter, in this case all that glitters is not exactly what it appears to be.

A train is now counted "on time" if it reaches its ultimate destination within five minutes for every 100 miles of operation. For example, a train traveling 600 miles can come in 30 minutes after scheduled arrival time and still be considered "on time."

Under the previous system, a train was considered late if it arrived more than six minutes behind schedule.

But better late than never, as they say. These days, any train is better than no train at all. And the system does seem to be improving.

COMPULSORY UNIONISM
ON TRIAL

William Turnblazer, a former high- ranking mine workers union official with admitted close ties to the bloody 1969 murder of Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, recently testified during the trial of former union president "Tony" Boyle that Boyle personally ordered Yablonski's slaying.

"We're in a fight. We've got to kill Yablonski, take care of him," Turnblazer quoted Boyle as saying during a secret meeting at UMW Washington headquarters several months before the murder. The 51-year- old Turnblazer, former president of UMW District 19, also testified that Albert Pass, then secretary - treasurer of District 19, volunteered to see that the job was done.

Boyle denied his connection to the brutal murder. A day later he was convicted.

In Detroit, a high- ranking auto workers union official, David Mundy recently was sentenced to 5-to-10 years in prison for shooting a union member after an argument in the union hall. Defense attorneys for Munday, head of Dearborn Local 600, asked the court for probation, arguing that the pistol- packing union officer was a "respected" union official who had risen from poverty to the top of one of the most powerful UAW locals in the country.

We wonder how much of Mundy's "respect" is linked to the fact that he carried a .357 magnum pistol around with him. Bullets are powerful pursuaders.

What makes union officials, including in some cases "powerful" and "respected" ones, think they can get away with this type of behavior? Why is it that union members don't rise up in revolt?

Former Watergate prosecuter Archibald Cox, addressing this point, wrote in the Michigan Law Review several years ago that individual workers who oppose union officers "run enormous risks, for there are many ways, legal as well as illegal, by which entrenched officials can 'take care of' recalcitrant members."

One way is through the calculated, cold- blooded application of violence and the threat of violence — which appears to have gained widespread favor among many union policymakers.

Another more subtle way is by threatening the dissenter with the loss of his job — a coercive act which is encouraged by our federal labor law which sanctions forced union membership as a condition of employment.

Congressman Sam Steiger (Ariz.) and 24 of his colleagues in the House, and Sen. William Scott (Va.), have moved to solve this problem with new legislation which would outlaw forced union membership -- and thereby restore control of unions to the members, who would be free to respond to abusive "leaders" by quitting, and still keeping their jobs. But so far, union- controlled Members of Congress in strategic positions have been able to prevent even public hearings on the much-needed proposal.

Meanwhile, we must report, powerful and "respected" union officials continue to "take care of" those who would stand in their way.

THE COURT MAKES A RULING

Members of the Supreme Court of Missouri a few days ago ruled that Lieutenant Governor William Phelps as president of the Senate, has no authority in the Senate other than the powers given him by the Constitution.

We rather imagine that Mr. Phelps, who usually runs around over the state with a broad grim managed to erase the grin when he read the decision rendered by the Supreme Court.

The odd thing about Governor Phelps, aside from his perpetual smile, is that members of his own party have turned against him and have voted with Democrats in determining that the Senate makes its own rules and no one can bypass them.

Governor Phelps will now preside over the Missouri Senate, cast the deciding vote should there be a tie and that's about as far as his duties will be. Not too much, but Mr. Phelps decided he would be an ombudsman in Missouri and took the job on for himself without being asked to serve as ombudsman.

State Senator William J. Cason, president pro tem of the Senate, who visited Gentry country not too long ago, had some comments on the decision of the Supreme Court. He said:

'I certainly hope that the Lieutenant Governor will quit disturbing our sessions as he has been doing now that this has been settled so we can get on with the people's business.

"The fact is," he said "the Lietuenant Governor lost the first case but apparently he wasn't able to read the opinion.

"Today's decision states that if the Lieutenant Governor insists on presiding over the Senate, even at times when people's elected representatives don't want him to, then he must abide by the rules of the Senate just as the Senators must abide by them.

"We have been facing a constitutional crisis because if the Lieutenant Governor could lawfully exercise the powers he has been trying to exercise, we would have had control of a legislative body by a member of the executive branch, and this would have been the end of the three divisions of our government."

Cason said the Court's decision was neither a personal nor a partisan victory but "a victory of the people's elected representatives." He noted that the Senate rules were adopted 30-0 and were voted for by every Republican Senator in the chamber.

"The Court has said that the final power to run the Senate reposes in the people's elected representatives and certainly not in a member of the executive branch. I hope this will settle the question for good," Cason said.

GOD MANAGEMENT NEEDED

The public payroll continues to grow about twice as fast as the population it serves, while the taxpayer is bludgeoned into paying higher and higher taxes.

On an annual basis, the Tax Foundation estimates that wages of civilian employees on government payrolls will exceed $118 billion in 1973.

In five years (1967-1972) employment in the public area increased 13 per cent, while the nation's population increased about five per cent.

Actually, the number of federal employees has dropped in the five year period, but more than enough state and local employees have been hired to make up the difference.

More than half of the 371,00 increase of full-time equivalent employment in 1971-72 was in education, the field that claims half of all state and local employees.

It is only through increased citizen interest that sound management methods can be utilized to keep the public payrolls in check.

A PIECE OF WORK
THAT WILL OUTLIVE
US ALL

Although it will take anther 13 years before Pioneer 10 crosses the orbit of Pluto, outermost planet in the solar system, and enters true outer space on its voyage into infinity, for all intents and purposes its mission is completed.

Having passed safely through the asteroid belt between Mars and Jupiter and survived the fantastically strong zone of radiation it reported around the giant planet, the probe is expected to encounter nothing but empty space the rest of the way.

There could be surprises, of course; man's first, brief era of space exploration has been full of surprises. Scientists will continue to track Pioneer 10 until its steadily fading radio beacon finally dies in 1977.

It is impossible to comprehend the vast distances involved in Pioneer's space odyssey. It covered 620 million miles in its 21- month trip to Jupiter. It must go several billion more miles before reaching the rim of the solar system. Its radio messages from Jupiter, traveling at the speed of light, took 45 minutes to reach earth. Were they to continue beaming from as far as Pluto, they would take 12 hours.

These distances and times are as nothing compared to interstellar measurements.

Long after sun dies, probably in a stupendous explosion as a nova perhaps 10 billion years hence, Pioneer 10 will continue its voyage through the galazy. Long after the earth and all its life have perished, the tiny spacecraft will continue to carry its plaque bearing the figures of a man and a woman and a diagram telling of its origin for such other space- faring sentient beings as may exist on the other side of the universe to wonder at.

All human works will someday vanish as if they had never been. Pioneer 10 will endure for eternity.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES TURNS
DOWN SOLZHENITSYN

In an action that surely must shame every citizen of our country who loves freedom and honors those who stand up for it, House Speaker Carl Albert and the leadership of the U. S. House of Representatives have refused to invite Alexander Solzhenitsyn to address a joint session of Congress.

This man, Russian born and bred, a great writer and the spokesman for all the human values that communism destroys, has a message for us as well as for the dictators and the enslaved people of his homeland. For in too many ways we are following the communist example and taking the road they have taken. For us there is still time to turn back. He could, and would, have reminded our lawmakers of the need to do just that.

It is not to be. Speaker Albert's letter to Congressman John Ashbrook of Ohio, rejecting the proposal to invite Solzhenitsyn, said: "It does not appear to me that it would be propitious or proper to inject the Congress into a matter that is obviously of some diplomatic and personal sensitivity for the nations and individuals involved."

So to spare the feelings of Leonid Brezhnev and company, we will not ask Alexander Solzhenitsyn to give us the benefit of his experience and his wisdom in living under the rule of our great enemy. Our Congress will not honor this man who so clearly deserves it. As Congressman Ashbrook rightly said: "Solzhenitsyn has had the courage to speak his mind and tell the truth. We can do no less." HLH

A MOST GENEROUS OFFER

WASHINGTON– It looks as if there's going to be some hard bargaining between President Nixon's lawyer, James St. Clair, over the tapes and evidence the House Judiciary Committee has subpoenaed. While the President has said he was willing to co- operate fully with the House so we could put Watergate behind us, Mr. St. Clair as his defense lawyer has to think of protecting his client.

This is how the negotiating may go.

"Mr. Doar, this is James St. Clair. How's everything on The Hill?"

"Just fine, Mr. St. Clair. What's new at the White House that we should know about?"

"That's what I'm calling about. You guys didn't have to send us a subpoena. We promised we'd co- operate with you fully. When you voted a subpoena it made it sound as if we were dragging our feet."

"I know."

"Now look, Doar, we want to be reasonable down here and we're willing to give you everything you've asked for."

"You are?"

"Yes, with the only exception that it doesn't harm the Presidency or violate the Constitution. As Mr. Nixon's lawyer I believe I'm in the best position to know what is relevant to your impeachment hearings. I've sifted through every piece of evidence and I give you my word a lot of the stuff you're requesting is not worth fighting for."

"How do we know that if we haven't heard the tapes?"

"I heard them, and the President's heard them, and H. R. Haldeman's heard them. Why can't you take our word for it that there is absolutely nothing on them that can contribute to Mr. Nixon's impeachment? What on earth would we have to gain by keeping evidence from your committee?"

"I'm certain, Mr. St. Clair, that what you say is true, but there are some members of the committee who have a thing about presidential tapes. Now are you going to turn them over to us?"

"That's what I'm calling about. We're willing to give you 42 tapes as requested."

"Then we don't have a problem."

"But the President feels he should have the right to decide what 42 tapes to give you. That's only fair."

"I don't get you."

"The President is offering instead of the Kleindienst telephone conversation of April 15 a tape of his call to congratulate Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins for winning the Super Bowl. The President says it's a much jazzier tape and he's sure the entire House committee would enjoy it.

"He is also offering in place of his conversations with Haldeman and Ehrlichman on April 16, 1973, the complete unedited tape of his talk with David Eisenhower on Feb. 12, 1969. He would also like to substitute the Colson material you've asked for with a tape of a very funny meeting he had in the Oval Office with Miss Cherry Blossom of 1972.

"To show his good faith the President has authorized me to turn over to you the tapes of all the prayer breakfasts at the White House, as well as a complete tape of Pearl Bailey singing 'When The Saints Go Marching In.' Furthermore, he is throwing in a tape of a personal message he dictated to Secretariat when he won the triple crown.

"He feels these tapes are something the House could play over and over again. Believe me, Mr. Doar, the ones you people have asked for are dull and repetitious, and you'd be bored to death. The ones we're offering you would give you hours of listening pleasure."

"Thanks, Mr. St. Clair, but no thanks. We still want the tapes we asked for."

"Okay Doar. The President asked me to give you a message if you refused his generous offer."

"What is that?"

"He told me to tell you 'That does it. No more Mr. Nice Guy.' "

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Mafia Taking a Beating

WASHINGTON — As evidence perhaps of the cynicism about corrpution in high places, we are frequently asked whether the Mafia is really manipulating the government from behind the scenes.

We have responded that the Mafia has no influence in Washington, that the Justice Department's task forces have been cracking down on organized crime. Now we have seen evidence in a secret General Accounting Office report that the courts, too, have been harsh on Mafia mobsters.

The roster of crime lords, who have wound up in federal prisons, should lay to rest any idea that Mafia membership pays. More than 800, including some prominent "godfathers," have drawn prison sentences since 1969.

To cite a couple of examples, a kingpin of the "French connection," Auguste Ricord, is sitting out his life in a federal penitentiary. Another top Mafioso, Aniello Dellacroce, just finished an income- tax sentence in the Atlanta pen. A few days before his release, another Mafioso leader, Frank Valenti, was locked behind federal bars.

The GAO study shows that, despite high- priced lawyers and highly placed friends, a crime syndicate figure can count on going to jail after conviction 54 per cent of the time, compared with 49 per cent for ordinary criminals.

Not surprisingly, the syndicate mobsters come before federal judges for sentencing most often on charges of extortion, racketeering, threats, gambling, embezzlement and fraud. For these crimes, Cosa Nostra criminals get longer sentences than do garden variety hoods.

For non-Mafia criminals, an average sentence for embezzlement and fraud is 18 months. But for a Mafia man it is 28 months. For the other crimes, a common hoodlum averages 35 months, the syndicate criminal 41 months.

On narcotics convictions, the syndicate pushers get an average of eight years compared to six for non-Mafia peddlers. Theft and immigration charges also bring longer sentences for organized criminals.

Nowhere in the federal crime spectrum, with the possible exception of assaults, do Mafia mobsters get a better break than common criminals.

Footnote: Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., who requested the GAO study, had feared that federal sentences for the Mafia might be light, as appears to be the case in some state courts. A few state judges, particularly in New York, seem lenient on crime syndicate figures. But in contrast, the federal courts in New York have been even tougher on the crime lords than the national average. On narcotics, for example, Brooklyn federal judges are the roughest in the land.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: Sources who have listened to the White House tapes say they were shocked at President Nixon's gutter language and vicious cracks. His profanity had the flavor, they say, of the dialogue in the ribald movie, "The Last Detail." He assailed those who displeased him with ugly invective. In a telephone conversation with ex-Attorney General Richard Kleindienst, for example, the President called antitrust chief Richard McLaren a nasty name but later appointed him a federal judge ...

Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has told confidantes that he received a scorching from Kremlin leader Leonid Brezhnev at their last Moscow meeting. In the strongest language Kissinger has heard from him, Brezhnev castigated United States moves in the Middle East. Kissinger predicted in advance that the Soviets would encourage Syrian shooting on the Golan Heights. Kissinger has done his best, meanwhile, to appease the Kremlin ... Sources close to the investigation of ex-Treasury Secretary John Connally can't understand why he would pocket $10,000 in milk money, as alleged, since he is a millionaire. Of course, Connally has vigorously denied that he took the money. But at the time of the alleged bribe, White House sources have reported, Connally was complaining that he had to borrow money to avoid selling off investments. His low government salary wasn't enough, he grumped, to keep up with his high living expenses ... The Federal Energy Office has become afflicted with the secrecy mania although it doesn't deal with security matters. Until FEO can buy its own supershredders, burners and what not, its employes have been instructed to deposit their secret trash in a central vault. Items such as cans, bottles, lunch bags and other routine trash must not be put in the burn bag."

Play Day planned at Cape

CAPE GIRARDEAU — About 150 high school girls from Southeast Missouri State University's service area are expected to be on the campus Saturday to participate in Play Day, an annual event sponsored by the Women's Recreation Association in cooperation with the department of women's physical education.

"Hats Off to SeMo" is the theme of this spring's Play Day in keeping with the university's 100th birthday celebration, according to Mrs. Erma Defee, WRA sponsor and instructor of physical education.

Highlights of the day's activities will be performances, following lunch, by Terpsichore, the university's modern dance group, and the Meraqua Swim Club.

All activities, including lunch, will take place in W. W. Parker Physical Education Building. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the program is expected to wind up about 3 p.m.

The morning program, according to Mrs. Defee, will consist of planned sports. The girls will be divided into groups and each group will participate in several sports. About a half hour will be devoted to each sport.

The afternoon hours, following the modern dance and swimming shows, will be free time, and the participants will be encouraged to take part in sports of their choice.

Poor nutrition affects mental development

By DR. LAURENCE M. HURSH, M.D.
National Dairy Council Consultant

Scientists are now discovering that poor nutrition in the first three years of life prevents full mental development, and that this can't be entirely corrected. The tragedy of this is apparent in that it's estimated that two-third of the world's children -- 300 million youngsters -- are undernourished and have some degree of growth retardation.

Food is the source from which you replace material your body loses. Bone, fat, muscle, organs, blood - all these things need constant replacement in your body. You may be an exact duplicate of what you were a year ago, but you are to a very large extent of new substance. This is why proper eating is so important.

The three methods for cooking vegetables to conserve as much of their nutrients as possible are: Steaming, pressure cooking, or cooking quickly in a covered pan with only enough water to prevent scorching. You'll save vitamin C if you cook vegetables only until they are done -- no longer.

As one of the four food groups, dairy foods are important because they are your very best source of calcium. You need calcium, even when you're an adult, for upkeep of bone and for proper functioning of nerves and muscles. Milk and its products are important, too, for protein, and the B vitamin riboflavin, as well as other vitamins and minerals.

There are some warnings you should heed about losing weight. Starving yourself is the wrong answer. It can upset your body chemistry, including decreasing your muscle more than fat, and if continued too long, it may create permanent damage involving vital functions. If you have a serious weight problem, see your doctor.

Here are ways to help your pre-school child. Serve small portions of foods, like smaller glasses of milk or juice; also medium temperature foods, rather than too hot or cold. And finger foods are easier for tiny hands to handle, like wedges of egg or tomato, or little cubes of meat or cheese, or carrot sticks

Fats are a chief source of energy and some vitamins. But that's not all. Fats make our foods more appetizing. They also delay the time your stomach takes to empty. This makes meals "stick to your ribs" and you don't have to eat again as soon.

New show to focus on women

NEW YORK (AP) — One week from Thursday, CBS will air a one- hour daytime news special for women. It eventually could become a regualr weekly event, according to a CBS executive in charge of the project.

The show is called "Magazine" and is hosted by correspondents Sylvia Chase and Charles Kuralt. Employing a format similar to CBS' "60 Minutes," it'll report on such diverse stories as hysterectomies, economical supermarket shopping and how soap operas are put together.

How did the show come about? Was it prompted by pressure from women's activist groups who feel daytime television should offer its predominantly female audience more than soap and games?

"No, I wouldn't think so," says Bill Leonard, a CBS News senior vice president. He said it basically stemmed from a suggestion made about 1½ years ago by CBS program chief Fred Silverman.

If the show gets the reaction CBS hopes it will, he said, it could become a weekly series in future years: "I would hope they CBS brass could make it that."

It isn't a low- budget effort, he said. Although he declined to say what the May 2 show is costing, he said the price tag was similar to that of a prime time documentary — in the $50,000 to $100,000 range.

The show will pre- empt two soap operas — 'The Guiding Light" and "The Edge of Night." And Leonard expects gripes will come from devotees of those shows, as they usually do during such news pre-emptions.

But he's philosophical about it. "This is only an hour," he said with a laugh. "I guess we can live with a few phone calls."

4-H leaders attend '74 workshop

RISCO — Mrs. Pansy Crosby, county youth assistant, and Mrs. Betty Cummins of Risco and Mrs. Louise Lueker of Catron were among 4-H leaders who attended the annual recreation workshop Thursday through Sunday at Camp Hawthorne on Lake of the Ozarks.

Various crafts taught at the sessions were plastercraft, nature terrariums, bead work and needlework techniques. Instructions were individually provided for each age level.

Ann Landers

Woman bitter because doctor 'talked me into masectomy'

Dear Ann Landers: Okay. So I let a doctor talk me into having a mastectomy (a breast removed) and now I need a head- shrinker because of that damned operation. I will never forgive myself for allowing such a brutal thing to be done to me.

I can't bring myself to accept a date for fear it might develop into an emotional involvement. How unfair for a woman to let a man fall in love with her when she can give him only a mutilated body. It's too cruel to even think about.

Women who have had this operation are lying when they say it didn't change their sex lives. How could it miss? Sign me-- Too Late And Plenty Sorry

Dear Friend: You DO need a head- shrinker, and I hope you find one soon. You say you "let a doctor talk you into a mastectomy." Unless the biopsy showed a malignancy, no doctor would remove a breast. Be thankful the cancerous breast was removed because otherwise the disease would have killed you.

Thousands of married women have had breasts removed and are enjoying sex as they did before. Granted, some husbands aren't able to accept the change, but they are immature, ignorant fools. Any woman who loses a husband because of this hasn't lost much.

Obviously you are single, but I can assure you many love affairs and marriages have taken place after breast removals. I hope women who have experienced this will write to me. I will print their letters and prove that your fears are groundless.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 13 years old and have been a fan of yours for a long time, but I sure wish you would print more letters from teenagers. We have troubles, too, and there aren't many places for us to go for help.

For years, people have mistaken me for a girl. I am a boy. In stores they say, "Thank you, Miss," and even on the bus I've been riding for ages, the driver still says, "Hi, honey," and stuff like that.

I'm sort of short and skinny with brown curly hair. Like all the other guys in my crowd, I wear my hair long, but this is not considered girlish because it's the style. I wear jeans and shirts, and I can't help it if a lot of girls wear them, too. They are copying US.

As soon as I can grow a moustache, I will, but it doesn't look like that will happen for quite a while yet. What can I do NOW?-- A Him

Dear Him: The first thing you can do is cut off some of that curly brown hair. If you're wearing beads and sandals, knock those off, too. Pretty soon your voice will change and that will help. When someone says, "Thank you, Miss," you can reply in a bass voice, "Call me Mister."

Dear Ann Landers: Is it against the law for a teacher to teach a class while he is intoxicated?

Our son tells us a certain professor is bombed out of his mind at least three afternoons a week and has a terrible temper when he is loaded. He has already suspended two students.

The college is small and it seems someone in administration should have noticed this. What do you advise?-- Concerned Parent

Dear Parent: The Dean should be informed at once. The next time the prof shows up plastered-- if this is really what's happening-- the Dean should be summoned to observe the scene.

Even if drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You-- For Teen-Agers Only." Send 35c in coin and a long, self- addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 3346, Chicago, Ill. 60654.

Risco prom held Friday

RISCO — "Moonlight and Roses" was the theme for the 1974 junior- senior prom held Friday evening in the Risco High School cafetorium. A red carpet and huge potted roses marked a path to the entrance of a simulated rock- walled rose garden which contained life-size rose trees, a dainty garden swing and a covered wishing well.

An authentic- looking old mill was appropriately used, along with a circular flowing water fountain in which rose petals floated. Overhead, streamers of midnight blue, studded with stars, completely covered the ceiling. Pink streamers formed walls surrounding the prom area, and stately white columns divided the dance area from the serving tables where atmosphere was added bysmall green lamps at each table.

Barbara McNeely, junior class president, was mistress of ceremonies for the program, dufing which Debbie Warth presented the junior class prophecy for each member of the senior class. Danny Byrd read the senior class will to the group, and the evening climaxed with the crowning of the prom queen and king, Toni Earnheart, crowned by Andy Smelser, and Danny Byrd, crowned by Barbara McNeely.

Appreciation banquet held honoring RSVP volunteers

EAST PRAIRIE — Bill Brantley was honored as Volunteer of the Year at the first annual appreciation and awards banquet honoring volunteers in the Mississippi County Retired Senior Citizens Program Friday night at the A. J. Martin school cafeteria.

Brandley, who is blind, and his seeing eye dog have visited the Head Start centers in Charleston and East Prairie, where he has demonstrated the use of a seeing eye dog. He has also entertained the Head Start children with his violin.

Mrs. Betty Johnson presented Brantley a special plaque for his services. Mrs. Loretta Ditto was recognized for her assistance with the Kitchen Klatter Band, and Ralph Brown received recognition for his volunteer service in providing transportation and school ground supervision.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to all volunteers. Those with more than three months of service received RSVP pins, and the others also received ribbons from Mrs. Johnson.

Barney Webster, president of the East Prairie Chamber of Commerce, the sponsoring organization of the Mississippi County RSVP program, served as master of ceremonies. Slides of volunteers in action were shown. Dinner music and two vocal numbers were provided by Mrs. Iris McElrath.

Carnations were presented to the women volunteers and boutonnieres to the men.

The program has been in operation since last August, and there are now 65 active volunteers.

The only hobby regulated by international treaty is amateur radio broadcasting.

What's the law?

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Chester proved to be a slice off the old ham. After his calculating father divorced his mother, his father went on to make a small fortune. And, before dying, he made out a will in which he gave Chester the income from his estate for life with the principal going to Chester's children upon Chester's death. However, the will continued, if Chester died without having children, then the principal was to be distributed to certain named charities. It was at this juncture that Chester revealed his conniving pedigree.

Being childless, Chester contrived a simple scheme to save his father's estate for his mother. He filed a petition in court to adopt her.

"You must be joking," protested several officials in opposition. "A son can't adopt his own mother. That would make him her father and that's not only absurd, it's confusing."

"But the law in this state isn't confusing," retorted Chester with an air of confidence. "It provides, specifically, that any person may file a petition to adopt a child or 'an adult' providing they are residents. Since I'm a resident, there's no reason I can't adopt my mother."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit conniving Chester to adopt his mother?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that since the law unequivocally authorizes the adoption of "an adult" by "any person," Chester cannot be precluded by a court from adopting his mother. Only the legislature, concluded the judge, can prevent such an adoption by legislation.

Library week in full swing

Riverside Regional Library
By Earl H. Oldham, Director

JACKSON — National Library Week activities at the Riverside Regional Library are in full swing, celebrating the theme of "Grow With Books". Books, of course, are what the library is all about, but at the six centers of the Riverside Regional Library, other activities and interests are important, too.

One of the most-used services offered by the regional library is the use of its buildings as community meeting places. Organizations in the towns, as well as in the rural areas of Perry, Cape Girardeau and Scott counties, are increasingly making use of library facilities for holding meetings. During 1973, for example, Riverside Regional Library's buildings were used for 1,192 meetings of civic, fraternal and educational groups.

What can you find at a library? First, of course, is books -- all kinds and descriptions of books, for all ages and interests. "Grow with Books" implies a widening of knowledge and awareness, possible only with the variety offered at a library. As a disseminator of knowledge through the printed word, the library has no rivals. But the modern library offers much more.

At the Riverside Regional Library's centers at Jackson, Perryville, Altenbury, Illmo, Benton and Morley, there are 16 millimeter films and 35-mm. filmstrips, cassettes, records, audio-visual equipment. Available at the central center in Jackson are microfilmed material and a microfilm reader. Whatever is not immediately available, the staff is ready to make an effort to obtain.

If you haven't visited your library this week, now is the time to do it. National Library Week began Monday and runs through Saturday, and the interest and participation of library patrons are what makes the week important.

Ball still remains mystery

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The origin of a 22-pound stainless steel ball found in Florida remains a puzzle, but "it's a nice, pleasant brain teaser," says an expert on unidentified flying objects.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of the Department of Astronomy at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., and former adviser to the Air Force on UFOs, was one of five scientists who examined the ball here over the weekend.

Newsmen also looked at it, shook it and heard a faint rattle.

Terry Matthews, 21, of Jacksonville, Fla., who found the ball near his home last month, brought the ball here for inspection. He claims the ball, which is 8 inches in diameter, has moved by itself and made strange noises.

Hynek said none of the five scientists now thinks the ball is aything but man-made.

"None will go so far as to say its extra-terrestrial," he said in an interview Sunday. "They would be putting their scientific reputations on the line."

The five scientists met here as members of a National Enquirer panel on UFOs. The weekly tabloid has offered $50,000 to anyone who can come up with "definite" proof of extra-terrestrial life.

Frankly speaking

Legislation goal to get rid of money influence

WASHINGTON — Approximately $400 million was spent on all 1972 election campaigns. Not only is this a lot of money, but it raises the question, where does it come from? And with what strings attached?

The disclosures resulting from Watergate have given the general public a glimpse of how and from what sources funds can be raised. According to current availabl information, the top 25 contributors in President Nixon's 1972 presidential campaign gave a total of $7.5 million. That's an average of $300,000 per contributor.

New accounts of illegal contributions and implications of special favors for certain groups make the average American wonder whether government is for the people or whether it is sold to the highest bidder.

In an attempt to restore the average American's confidence in government, the United States Senate recently passed the Federal Campaign Act. Through a combination of public financing, spending limits of 12 cents per voter in general elections and contribution limits of $3,000 per person, the legislation's goal is to get rid of big money influence in government.

The public financing concept is not new. Theodore Roosevelt suggested it back in 1907. The United States rejected the idea at that time, but some form of public financing of elections has been adopted by about half of the Western democracies.

The United States instead tried to control campaigns through the Corrupt Practices Act of 1925. Yet in its 46 years of existence, no member of Congress was ever punished for violating it.

The Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 tried to remedy the big money influence problem through disclosure of contributions, but it didn't go far enough-- Watergate still happened.

Although public financing of campaigns is not a cure- all, it will help ensure that public officials respond first to the public-- not to special interest groups.

It is not a raid on taxpayers' money. The biggest raid occurs when financial favors are given special interest groups-- at the expense of taxpayers, or when corporate tax loopholes are maintained-- at the expense of the taxpayers.

Instead, public financing will break the stranglehold of big money contributors on the election process. When all the people pay for elections, all the people will truly be represented by those elected.

Even without the public financing provision, the Senate bill's provisions for spending and contribution limits would be a good step toward campaign reform.

Hopefully we can close all loopholes which allow big money to dictate public policy and maintain a government whose goal is to bring about the greatest good to the greatest number of people.

Statuary Hall was created in 1864 to occupy the former Hall of the House of Representatives. States were invited to contribute not more than two statues of distinguished persons judged worthy of national commemoration by the states, but in 1933 the number of statues was limited to one for each state, others to be placed in other parts of the Capitol, The World Almanac notes. Some 91 statues have been contributed by 50 states.

Bond urges health service long range plans

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Christopher S. Bond urged development of long-range plans Monday to provide adequate manpower for emergency medical services and maternal and child health in the future.

Speaking to the Missouri Health Manpower Conference here, Bond noted the University of Missouri Medical School is placing greater emphasis on accepting and enrolling medical students from rural and urban ghetto areas, hoping that such students will return to those medically understaffed areas.

"What we need now is an 'over-all strategy for health manpower in Missouri," the governor said. "We need a clear definition of our goals and objectives and a long-range plan to implement such a system.

"We must look at the new health delivery programs," he continued, "which are being developed or implemented on a statewide basis, and determine what health manpower will be needed to provide these programs throughout the state, in numbers as well as degree of specialization.

Bond noted as an example one of his high priority programs this year-maternal and infant health care, which he said he was hopeful would be taken up today by the House as a special order of business.

"If there is not a sufficient number of adequately trained health personnel to provide for such a program," Bond said, "we should look toward recruiting and training the necessary manpower."

SeMo U. room, board rate hike approved

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Room and board rates at Southeast Missouri State University will go up by about $1 a week, beginning with the 1974-75 academic year, to cover increased costs of food and labor.

The university's board of regents approved the increase April 18, after university treasurer Jack Wimp told members that a $90,000 increase in food and labor costs is expected in fiscal 1975.

The new rate will be $898 per academic year -- $36 a year more than the students are now paying, Wimp said. The treasurer reviewed room and board rates at the other four Missouri state universities and declared the increase would "keep us even and in line with the others."

Wimp also discussed the effect upon the university of the new minimum wage law recently passed by Congress and signed by the president.

Full- time students who work up to 20 hours a week when school is in session will get $1.62 an hour beginning May 1, he said, and this will go to $1.70 an hour on Jan. 1.

Regular employes -- and students employed when school is not in session -- must be paid at least $1.90 an hour beginning May 1 and $2 an hour beginning Jan. 1.

Wimp also reported to the board that the university has decided to call for new bids on the construction of a 100,000-gallon steel water tank to replace an existing, smaller tower located west of the Industrial Arts Building. Only one bid was received on the first call, he said, and it was about $60,000 more than had been anticipated.

The regents awarded a $50,000 contract to Kiefner Brothers Construction Co. of Perryville for construction of the first leg of a campus underground electrical primary distribution system. The first phase will consist of a circuit from the power plant to the site of the new union building, now under construction. An offshoot of the circuit will be plugged into Academic Hall to provide necessary power for modern standards.

The board also authorized contracts to be let for continued work on Academic Hall, providing approval is obtained from the state to use local funds to help finance the project.

Use of local funds is necessary, it was explained, because the bids for the mechanical and general and electrical work on the building were about $150,000 more than the legislature appropriated.

Tom Phillips, a Cape Girardeau architect who is overseeing the continuing renovation of the structure, reported to the board that he had gone over the projected work in detail with a state official, and they agreed that "all work is essential for the restoration of Academic Hall and there is a choice of doing the work now or at a later date at an even more inflated cost."

Assuming approval is given by the state fiscal office and the state architect, B. W. Birk Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Inc. of Cape Girardeau will receive a $379,000 contract for the mechanical work and Wright Electric Contracting Co. Inc. of Cape Girardeau will bet a $311,000 contract for the general and electrical work.

Basically, the work will include a sprinkler system throughout the building, complete rewiring of the building with new light fixtures and electrical outlets, new plumbing and central heating and air conditioning.

David Pearce, a St. Louis architect representing the firm which designed the new student union building, reported that the project is now 42 days behind schedule. He also reported that he expected to have a recommendation for the board by its next meeting on several requests from the contractor for extensions of time.

In other business, the board heard reports from Sam Palermo, a management expert hired by the board to supervise the upgrading of campus custodial, maintenance and security systems; Dr. A. R. Meyer, dean of instruction; and Dr. Robert Foster, dean of graduate studies.

The next meeting was set for June 13 at 9:30 a.m.

Palermo, who joined the university staff on March 1, submitted his initial review of custodial efforts in academic facilities. The report identified 14 problem areas, including a lack of checklists of required tasks for janitors and student workers, unsuitable trash can locations, lack of coordination between the use of facilities and necessary custodial support, and the use of the custodial work force in support of other functions.

Sixteen recommendations to correct the deficiencies were also submitted. They included the installation of hand dryers in "high use" rest rooms to reduce paper usage, restocking and litter; the installation of trash receptacles in "heavy traffic" areas; and an anti-litter campaign which would involve students.

Dean Meyer asked for, and received, board approval of policies regarding the selection of department heads, retirement and departmental review.

The departmental review policy, he said, provides a means for faculty members to initiate an independent assessment of a department's programs and procedures.

The retirement policy specifies "that individuals reaching age 65 prior to the beginning of any academic year shall not be eligible for continued employment." Exceptions can be made, however, if an individual's request is approved by university officials and the regents.

The policy for the selection of department heads provides for participation of both administrative officers of the university and senior members of the department.

The board also approved the offering of a major in mathematics on the master of arts in teaching degree program.

Dr. Foster reported on the visit to the campus of Dr. Robert H. Koenker, dean of the graduate school at Ball State University in Muncie, Ind. Dr. Koenker has been serving as a consultant on the Southeast Missouri State graduate programs from the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Mobile home owner tells of destruction during storm

HOLTS SUMMIT, Mo. (AP) — "We were just sitting in the front room when we heard the loud roar," said Bill McMillan.

He was describing what it's like to be trapped in a mobile home when struck by tornadic winds.

"The trailer lifted," he said, "and that's when I dove for my wife and daughter who were sitting on the sofa. I never made it that far. Before the lights went out, the trailer seemed to turn over, very slowly."

The storm struck Sunday night. McMillan, he and his family spared, took time off from salvaging their belongings Monday to thank his lucky stars he could tell about it.

"After the trailer turned over," he said, "everything was in shambles. My wife, Carol, was underneath the sofa, and the baby was screaming.

"The doors were useless and the paneling inside had shifted. The only means of exiting was through the window and the windows wouldn't open.

Carol and Bill were released from the hospital after being treated. Carol had to have several stitches in her leg and foot while Bill had 15 stitches in his leg, 10 in his elbow and one on a knuckle. The baby was hospitalized in satisfactory condition with a large lump on the side of her head.

In daylight, the McMillans discovered how lucky they were. About 40 feet to their immediate rear was another neighbor's trailer.

"Our trailer could not have stood by itself upside down," McMillen said. "If our trailer had not come to rest on the side of the other, I have no doubt that the walls could not have supported the heavy frame."

"I was planning to install anchors on our trailer this Saturday but I guess this takes care of that," McMillan added.

The family has relatives who have offered to take them in.

"I had to rebuild when I got out of the Army. I guess I can do it again," McMillan said.

CAPE GIRARDEAU - Trustees of Southeast Missouri Hospital recently authorized the signing of contracts totaling $2,532,662 for the construction of a three-floor addition to the East Wing of the hospital.

The sum will be increased by $144,074 in architects and engineering fees to bring total cost, without furnishings to $2,676,736.

Robert O. Hirsch, president of the board, noted the total cost figure is $81,579 less than the estimate of $2,758,315 determined at the outset of the four-stage hospital development program.

-General contract, Buckley Construction Co., Fenton, $1,218,911.

-Electrical contract, C. J. Hervey Electric Co., St. Louis, $173,950.

-Ventilating contract, Tate Distributing Co., Cape Girardeau, $129,030.

-Elevator contract, Otis Elevator Co., St. Louis, $82,281.

Other bidders were: general contract, Penzel Construction Co., Jackson; electric, D and D Electrical Co., Cape Girardeau; heating, piping and air conditioning, B. W. Birk and Co., Cape Girardeau; plumbing, A. E. Birk and Son, Cape Girardeau; B. W. Birk and Co., Burnett Plumbing and Heating Co., St. Clair; ventilating, Likens Heating and Air Conditioning, Cape Girardeau, Stevenson Roofing Co., St. Louis; elevator, General Elevator Co., St. Louis.

The three-floor East Wing addition, which will be built on top of the existing two floors, is the third stage of the hospital's expansion plan, taken to the public in early 1973 in a $1 million capital funds campaign to go with existing and borrowed capital available to the hospital. A total of $931,349 has been raised to date in that campaign.

The first phase, part of a long-range development program initiated in plans announced in the late 1960s, was underway at the time of the fund campaign. It was erection of a West Wing for maternity and medical-surgical beds. This was open in May 1973.

The second stage, partially completed, was a critical care section including a cardiac care unit which was opened two weeks ago. Under construction as a part of this stage is the expansion of the parking lot.

The East Wing addition, third in the expansion, should be completed by June 1, 1976. hospital officials said. James Dutton, architect for the Pearce Corp., said this was a conservative schedule allowing for possible delay in delivery of steel. Pearce Corp. will serve as management consultant.

Bids accepted by the trustees Wednesday also fit into the fourth stage of construction, renovation of the original hospital building, the North Wing.

When the East Wing addition is completed, the North Wing will be converted into ancillary facilities for clinical laboratory, X-ray, medical records, pharmacy, etc. The bids accepted Wednesday included pipe tunnels and connecting facilities for the future conversion of the North Wing.

Patients now in the North Wing will be moved to the East Wing addition upon its completion. Two floors of the three-floor vertical expansion will be utilized. The top floor will be shelled in for future use.

Each of the two finished floors will have 31 beds, 22 semi-private and nine private for a total of 62 beds. Hospital officials said the rooms will be equipped with the most modern hospital facilities, including individual heating and cooling control. Each room will have a lavatory and some private rooms will have bath facilities.

In addition, a large solarium is planned for the fifth level while the first floor will include a waiting room for families of patients in the intensive and coronary care units. Although no patient rooms will be placed on the fifth floor, there will be access to the solarium, overlooking Capaha Park and north Cape Girardeau, from the first four floors.

THANKS TO MFA

...construction of over $5,000,000 of new storage facilities... and shared ownership of suppliers having $300,000,000 of new construction under contract.

In the legislature, MFA presses for better education. Improved roads. And economic reforms such as the strategic commodity reserve program.

Yes, for all Missourians—MFA works for more markets, better income and improved food production.

Cook named as Lewallen director

Gene Cook of Marquand has been hired as director at Camp Lewallen this summer. The Boy Scout camp, located near Silva, will open June 16.

Cook was approved by the Southeast Missouri Boy Scout Council executive board at its monthly meeting Tuesday night at Sikeston Junior High School. He was recommended by the council camping committee headed by Joe Kiser of Piedmont.

Kiser also reported to the board that the camp will need two cooks and a nurse this summer.

He also noted that the Order of the Arrow spring reunion will be held this weekend at Camp Lewallen, and Scouts will clean up the campsite and make repairs. Wives of Boy Scout leaders have been invited to attend a program planning session May 18 at the camp, while their husbands plan their camp activities for their troops. Pre-camp inspection also will be held that day.

A staff training session will be held June 9.

Kiser announced that applications are still being taken for a week-long trip down the Frank Struwe Canoe Trail July 28- Aug. 3. The first 30 persons between the ages of 18 and 21 will be accepted.

Dr. R. A. Ritter of Cape Girardeau presided at Tuesday night's board meeting in the absence of Dr. Mark Scully of Cape Girardeau, chairman.

Vic Hill of Cape Girardeau, activities committee chairman, said applications for the trip to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico must be in by June 1. Scouts will leave Southeast Missouri on Aug. 6 and return Aug. 21.

Jerry Wright, scoutmaster of Post 189 in Kennett, told board members that he thought last month's selection of two boys to attend the 1975 World Jamboree in Lillhammer, Norway, was unfair because others in the district were not given sufficient time to submit applications.

The first two applications to arrive in the district office were approved at the March meeting. Only three boys will be selected from Southeast Missouri, unless other districts do not fill their quotas, Ten applications have been submitted.

Wright was informed by the board that the policy has always been to accept the applications on a first come, first serve basis. Dr. Ritter said absolutely no favortism was shown.

Board members thanked Wright for his interest in the matter and recommended that a three- man committee be appointed to recommend ways of handling the problem in future years. The committee members are Judge Marshall Craig and Pat Lea of Sikeston and Hill.

The board approved plans for a one- week sailing cruise in the Bahamas for 10 scouts aged 14 or old. The trip is planned for July 1975, and Don Wondell and Dr. George Bligh of Poplar Bluff will be in charge of the two 39- foot boats. Boys accepted for the trip must have earned their lifesaving merit badge. The fee will be between $360 and $400 per person.

Cliff Manlove of Dexter, training chairman, announced that applications for the junior leader development training program June 9-15 at Camp Lewallen must be in the scout office by May 24.

The board voted to send three district scout executives to the wood badge training course in Waterloo, Ill., July 27 through Aug. 3. The course is for adult scout leaders.

Ken Miles of Dexter, Exploring chairman, reported that the Explorer presidents association meeting was held April 6 in Sikeston. At the meeting plans were announced for a road rally to be held June 15-16 from Poplar Bluff to Sikeston. Miles also announced that an outdoor event is scheduled for Explorer Scouts Aug. 10 at Lake Wappapello.

William Bahn of Cape Girardeau announced that a fund- raising campaign has begun for the Current River leadership training expedition.

Reports were heard from representatives of the various districts: Dr. George Ladyman of Poplar Bluff, Osage District; Bill Colston of Caruthersville, Seminole District; L. D. Fish of Lilbourn, Sioux District; Dr. R. A. Ritter of Cape Girardeau, Shawnee District; and John Peel of Sikeston, Okeechobee District. Peel announced that Tony Heckemeyer and Mike Smith are new members of the advancement committee, and Al Salembier is a new member of the camping committee. All are from Sikeston.

The board voted to hire Larry Sparks of Ironton as new Shawnee District executive.

HALLIBURTON IS LOOKING FOR THE UNCOMMON INDIVIDUAL— COULD IT BE YOU?

Halliburton Services is looking for ambitious individuals with these qualifications: 21 or over, in good health, high school education or the equivalent, some mechanical aptitude and the desire to get ahead in life.

We are the world's largest oil field service organization and recently the demand for our services has come close to exceeding the supply.

So we've set up a training program lasting about eight months to train capable people to work as oil well cementers, one of the basic oil field services required by oil and gas producers. When you complete this training you are assigned to Halliburton locations either in the U.S. or foreign countries.

During the classroom training you receive excellent pay as well as all lodging, meals and transportation. After completing training and starting as a cementer, you'll get a salary increase and moving costs to your new location.

If you go abroad you'll also get living and family housing allowances and a differential pay increase. There are important tax advantages, too.

If you're interested, Halliburton Services representatives are interviewing from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., Saturday and Sunday, April 27 and 28 at the Ramada Inn, Interstate 55 at U.S. 62, Sikeston, telephone (314) 471-4700. Appointments are not necessary and your family is welcome. Contact Felix Moody, Room 101, Ramada Inn.
We can arrange interviews at other hours, too.
Or write us at Duncan.

Freshman John Waltrip breaks the tape to win the 880 yard run during Sikeston's eighth and ninth grade track encounter with Cape Girardeau and Poplar Bluff Tuesday afternoon. Waltrip also won the mile run for the Bulldogs.

Blankenship masters MHS

MATTHEWS — Coach N. P. McDaniel's Sikeston Bulldogs tuned up for next week's district baseball playoffs with a 10-0 romp of the Matthews Pirates Tuesday afternoon for their seventh win in ten games this season.

SHS faces Fredericktown at VFW stadium Monday in an opening round district encounter, but face the district's top seeded Cape Central Tigers in a regular scheduled match there today at 4 p.m.

Richard Blankenship hurled four and two thirds innings of no hit ball and then retired in the sixth with a one hitter while his mates backed his performance with 11 safties. Blankenship worked six frames, allowing one hit, fanning 11 while facing only 19 batters. Mitch Walker went the final inning, allowing one hit, fanning two and facing four batters. MHS had only three base runners during the game and none got past second base.

Armond Porter and Rick Daniels collected Matthews' only hits of the game while Kenny Stokes and Bruce Lawrence connected for a pair of safties for SHS. Stokes had three runs batted in and John Leible knocked in a pair.

SHS jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the first and put the game out of reach with eight big tallies in the second before closing out their scoring with a single run in the third.

The Jaycees agreed Tuesday night to head a league and to sponsor a team.

Cleam Beal, who presented the idea to the Jaycees, said a survey is being conducted now to find out how many boys may be expected to play in the league.

The league will start with four or six teams, depending on the response.

Beal said current plans call for the league to furnish uniforms and playing gear, except for shoes, mouthpieces and athletic supporters.

He said there will be 25 boys per team.

Beal said parents will also be asked to buy insurance for the players before competition begins.

Beal said Floyd Williams, a former Alabama resident now living in Sikeston has been helping establish the league. Williams is familiar with peewee league football, Beal said.

Save 10¢. And let your taste settle the salad dressing question, once and for all.

In salad dressing, it's flavor that counts. Miracle Whip Salad Dressing's lively fresh flavor comes from a special blend of spices and a blending secret that is Kraft's alone. Miracle Whip is perfect just the way it is. Once you compare it with some of the "me-too" dressings we're sure you'll agree, no matter what, there's only one Miracle Whip. And that's why Miracle Whip makes a sandwich, a salad, seafood or cold cuts taste so fresh and lively. And why Miracle Whip is America's favorite salad dressing.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Baseball's Lou Brock, for all his feats, admits he's still probing new horizons in the National League.

The 34-year-old St. Louis Cardinals star swiped three bases Tuesday night in an 8-2 romp over the Houston Astros.

"But you have to take them as they come," emphasized Brock, whose steals boosted his major league leading total to 11 in 17 games.

"I learned a long time ago not to set goals," he added. "You create pressure for yourself that way. I'd rather have the pressure on the other team.

"Still," Brock noted, "I think you'd find from my career record that seldom have I had 30 stolen bases at the All-Star break and seldom have I had even 25.

"I've never had this kind of start, not in base stealing," acknowledged the holder of the major league record for 50 or more thefts nine straight years.

"You don't know from day to day what the situation's going to be. There are times when you get to a base and you know your timing is not good."

He was stranded at third base following the theft and flied out in the third. But in the fourth, after Bake McBride's single produced a 4-2 St. Louis lead, he again singled.

Astros catcher John Edwards was on the mark with his throw to second but Brock was there first and later scored on Reggie Smith's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth he doubled with one out, scooted to third on a wide Don Wilson pitch and trotted home on Ted Sizemore's single over third.

His laurels many, Brock was asked the inevitable question of whether the majors record of 104 thefts by Maury Wills in 1962 was out of reach.

"It could be attained," he conjectured, "but not with me. I think to steal 100 bases you've got to steal third base 20 to 25 times a year.

"I don't think we're going to have the kind of season where I'm going to need to steal third that often," Brock predicted, "but I guess if you're caught up in the pressure late anything's possible."

Netmen post shutout

MALDEN-- Coach John Heacox's Sikeston Tennis team made short work of the Malden Green Wave, defeating the Wave 12- 0 Tuesday afternoon.

Matt Matthews opened with a 8- 3 win over Anderson followed by Jeff Robey defeating Wieland 8- 1. Craig Vogle played third and defeated Barker 8- 2.

Prince McDougal took the first eight games to shut out Croon 8- 0. Mark Eaves edged by Paul 10- 8 and Ed Nunnelee rolled over Barrell 8- 3.

In the final two matches Dupont beat Bradshaw 8- 2 and Hesselrode blanked Broyles 8- 0.

In doubles competition, the Bulldog team of Matthews- Medelberg defeated Anderson- Barker 8- 6 followed by a 8- 5 win by Robey- Vogel over Wieland- Gibson.

Bridger and Heeb had to play the extra games to defeat Croom and Broyles 13- 11. Allen and Hesselrode ended the doubles competition with an 8- 4 win over Paul and Bradshaw.

The Bulldogs are now 7- 4 for the season and the final two matches of the regular season will be played Monday and Tuesday.

Paula Smith

Mrs. Smith cast as Dolly Tate

Paula Kaye Smith, a newcomer to Sikeston Little Theatre, plays the part of Dolly Tate in the organization's newest production, "Annie Get Your Gun."

She will appear in the performances at 8 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday and 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Sikeston Activity Center.

Mrs. Smith, the wife of Jim F. Smith and the mother of Shannon, Marianne and Jimmy Paul, is enthusiastic about the musical in particular and Little Theatre in general.

She participated in numerous plays while a student at Dexter High School and was awarded their Notre Masque Award for outstanding dramatic accomplishment. Some of the plays she was involved in were, "Little Women", "Our Hearts were Young and Gay" and "Mooncalf Mugford".

The part of Dolly Tate came to her rather by accident. Mrs. Smith took her three children to the auditions and came home with a leading role. She says she loves every minute of it and wishes she had gotten involved in Little Theatre sooner.

Classical Music in Money Trouble

AP Newsfeatures Writer

In 1973, there was trouble right here in culture city, to paraphrase a song from musical comedy, with a capital T and that stands for Treasury and that means money.

Orchestra musicians asked for raises, as contracts expired; boards of directors said big raises would put them out of business because they didn't have the money; orchestras struck. The Chicago Symphony's board was afraid those musicians would start the season without a contract, then strike as famed conductor Sir Georg Solti arrived in mid-October, so that season didn't start until the contract was signed Oct. 13.

The New York Philharmonic played four concerts, then struck for 10 weeks, the musicians booking themselves for a tour in Spain and Portugal while they were out. They settled for $380 in the third year of a three-year contract, the same as Chicago, though they had wanted $10 a week more.

The New York City Opera's orchestra played for three operas, then struck for a month, coming back for $340 in the third year of the contract. The New York City Ballet Dancers, fearful that its orchestra would strike just as Christmastime's popular "Nutcracker" was starting, struck themselves, for 25 days, until the orchestra signed.

Avery Fisher, founder of Fisher Radio, gave Philharmonic Hall a sum said to be between $8,000 and $10,000, for maintenance, and the board was so grateful they renamed the place Avery Fisher Hall.

The Metropolitan Opera announced in September that it was $7,790,000 in debt, despite capacity in the 1972-73 season being 90 per cent and gifts as big as usual. Costs had gone up. So the Met decided not to have new scenery and costumes for "Don Giovanni" this season; not to continue the month-long Mini-Met of chamber operas in a small theater, so successfully started in early 1973; not to give free summer concert performances of opera in city parks, which it started in 1967; and in a couple of years to end the June season in the Met itself, after the spring tour.

The Philadelphia Orchestra went on a tour to China, becoming the first American orchestra to play there since the Communists took power. They played Mozart, Roy Harris, Brahms, Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever" and "Yellow River Concerto," written by the Central Orchestra Committee of the People's Republic of China.

Nationalist China sent its 73-member National Chinese Opera Theater to tour 30 American cities, for three and a half months, presenting Peking Opera, a tradition which dates back to the 8th century.

The Sydney, Australia, Opera House, estimated in 1957 to take five years and $7 million (Australian money) to build, opened in 1973, having taken 16 years and cost $100 million ($150 American money). Sail-shaped shells jut out from a point of land into Sydney Harbor. It makes a beautiful picture but the opera house seats only 1,550 and there is no place to park nearby. Some say that now Sydney needs an opera house. The 2,700-seat Concert Hall opened with the Sydney Symphony and Birgit Nilsson and the opera house opened with Prokofiev's "War and Peace" conducted by Edward Downes.

The Paris Opera opened in the spring, after a year closed, with Rolf Liebermann, 62, who is Swiss and most recently headed the modern-music oriented Hamburg Opera, as administrator and Sir Georg Solti, a British citizen, as music adviser. Some Frenchmen thought the two should have been Frenchmen, but after "Orfeo ed Euridice," "Le Nozze di Figaro," "Parsifal" and "Il Trovatore," the feeling grew that the Paris Opera might really have been saved from its previous increasing decay. This year the Paris Opera received a state subsidy of more than $13 million, half the total national budget for music. The Ministry for Cultural Affairs got .50 per cent of the national budget, with its music department getting one-tenth of that.

Sol Hurok announced that he would bring the Bolshoi Opera to the United States for the first time in 1975. Dmitri Shostakovich visited the United States in 1973 to accept an honorary doctorate from Northwestern University. While he was in New York, the 66-year-old Russian composer attended the New York Philharmonic's first rug concert — in which the orchestra section of the hall had the seats removed and was carpeted for floor sitting. Shostakovich sat in the first balcony, in a chair.

Benjamin Britten's new opera, "Death in Venice," was highly acclaimed at the Aldeburgh Festival in England and later at the Royal Opera in Covent Garden. In 1974 it will be seen at the Met.

The International Congress of Anthropological and Ethnological Sciences commissioned an opera from Gian-Carlo Menotti for its convention in Chicago. Menotti wrote "Tamu-Tamu," about an Indonesian family dislocated into an American apartment, which he said was about "one species, many cultures." Menotti, 62, said he is thinking about retiring.

The Perkins Engines Co. commissioned Krzysztof Penderecki's "First Symphony," which was performed in the cathedral in Peterborough, England, where the company is the biggest employer — and also the biggest commissioner of cultural works.

The Chicago Lyric Opera commissioned Penderecki, 39, to write an opera for the American bicentennial celebration. The American Music Center, on behalf of its members, protested that instead of a Polish composer it should have been an American.

There was nudity in "Tamu-Tamu" in Chicago — the Indonesian soprano inspiring the American soprano to imitation, according to the plot. And in New Orleans, Carol Neblett, 27, was nude in "Thais." Strippers of the city, who are legally denied nudity, protested.

The Sadler's Wells Opera in London gave Wagner's Ring operas in English.

Maria Callas, 50, whose last public singing appearances were in 1965, started a tour in Europe with tenor Giuseppe de Stefano. The critics were not enchanted.

Cellist Jacqueline du Pre, 28, who had canceled her concerts for a season in 1971 because of nervous exhaustion, was diagnosed as having multiple sclerosis. Her husband, conductor and pianist Daniel Barenboim, canceled some touring to spend more time with her.

Among those who died this year were Pablo Casals, 96, master cellist and conductor for eight decades; Lauritz Melchior, 82, probably the greatest dramatic tenor ever; Elaine Shaffer, 47, leading lady of flutists; a guardian of the classical tradition in violin playing, Joseph Szigeti, 80; Herbert Graf, 69, one of the opera world's most sought after directors; conductor Otto Klemperer, 88, known for his intellectual, solemn approach; conductor Istvan Kertesz, 43, music director of the Cologne Opera; soprano Jennie Tourel, 63, who fled from the Paris Opera-Comique in World War II and became a leading U.S. recitalist; Bruce Yarnell, 35, who went from musical comedy roles to the San Francisco Opera, with an upcoming contract for Covent Garden.

CASUAL ELEGANCE — Two-part separates by Glenora Jrs. of comfort-borne, pure cotton "fade-out" corduroy from Cone Mills. Slim-fitted vest tops floral print shirt and long "renovated" jeans-skirt with V-insert and patch pockets.

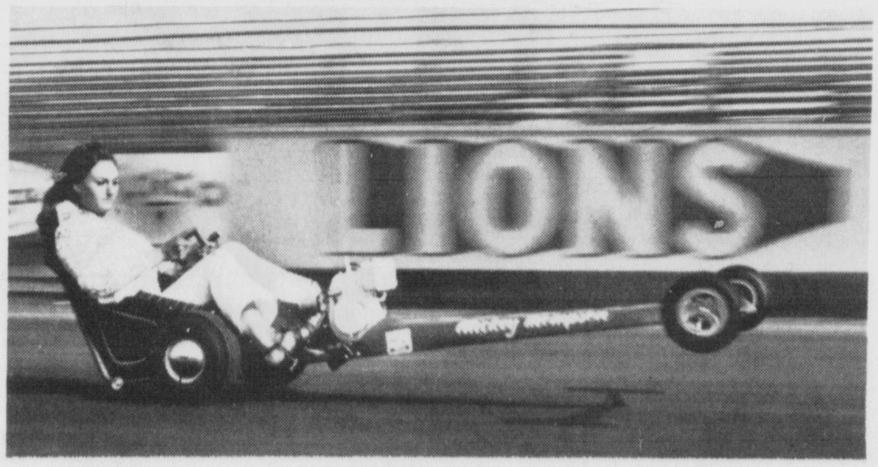
Speaking of compacts ....



This is probably going too far even for the busy housewife who doesn't want frills, just a basic car, please. Actually, this is a "slingshot dragster," a mini version developed in California for those who want the thrill of dragracing without the full-sized, fire-breathing racers. Valerie Jungck shows how it's done.

Because the Commuter travels at 110 miles per hour, twice as fast as a car. And gets 22.5 miles per gallon while

Larry Lancaster

Sikeston man named manager of hog market

A native of Sikeston has been named manager of the Heinold Hog Market at Bloomfield.

Larry Lancaster, a 1971 graduate of Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau, was assigned to the Bloomfield market last March. He joined Heinold Jan. 1 and received management training at Heinold markets at Brookport and Maple Park, Ill., and Burlington, Ind.

Lancaster graduated from Sikeston High School and after receiving a degree from Southeast Missouri State he spent two years working at the University of Missouri Delta Center in soybean research at Portageville.

The Bloomfield market is one of 63 operated by Heinold in seven states. Heinold, the world's largest nonpacker buyer of hogs, purchased more than 3.75 million hogs from farmers in 1973 and sold them to more than 75 packers across the nation.

Local distributors attend convention

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McCain, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Goetz, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hampton and Mrs. James Spurlin of Sikeston attended the regional Shaklee convention April 12 and 13 at the Conrad Hilton Hotel in Chicago.

The convention was for distributors and supervisors of Shaklee products, which are natural organic products.

The 36- year- old former assistant sales manager joined Kerr in 1969 as advertising manager. He came to Tulsa from Indianapolis, Ind., where he was employed as advertising director for Allied Grocers of Indiana. Previously, he served as both assistant and manager of the advertising department of Wetterau Foods, Inc. at Scott City, Mo.

Dunagan graduated from high school in Sikeston and attended Union University at Jackson, Tenn.

Hunter re-elected Ark-Mo. director

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark.----- Hal E. Hunter of New Madrid, Mo., was re- elected a director of Arkansas- Missouri Power Co. at the annual stockholders meeting Thursday in Blytheville.

Other directors re- elected were Kendall Berry of Blytheville, Edmund S. Cummings Jr. of Chicago, August L. Griesedieck of St. Louis, Floyd W. Lewis of New Orleans, George K. Reeves of Caruthersville, Mo., Frank G. Smith Jr. of Blytheville and Gus B. Walton Jr. of Little Rock, Ark.

Two directors, Charles Czeschin of Blytheville and Henry F. Trotter of Pine Bluff, retired as directors. Czeschin, who had served as chairman of the board, had been with Ark-Mo for 23 years. Trotter retired after 26 years with the company.

Smith, who continues as president and chief executive officer of the company, expressed appreciation for "the contributions each has made, not only to the company, but to the communities in which you live."

In addition to Smith, the following were re- elected: Charles R. Newcomb, vice president and secretary; John H. Germain, vice president, gas operations; L. T. McSpadden, vice president, legal and personnel; John C. Watson, vice president, consumer affairs and development; Ernest L. McKenzie, treasurer and assistant secretary; and E. E. Brown, assistant treasurer all live in Blytheville.

The 179,000- kilowatt plant, he said, is scheduled for final testing about May 20, "and, since everything is on schedule, we still plan to put the plant into commercial operations June 1."

Preliminary testing of the generating facility's components already is underway, Smith said, adding that the 55,000- barrel oil storage tank is completed.

"We expect to begin receiving fuel oil at the plant the week of May 6," he said.

With the new plant in operation, Smith said Ark-Mo., for the first time in its history, will be able to supply its own power needs.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Defensive standout Bill Stanfill of the Miami Dolphins was once an expert at hunting rattlesnakes in Georgia.

"We used to have rattlesnake roundups," says Stanfill. "We would hunt them down deep holes. You take a water hose and stick it down there and if the rattlers are down there you would hear them through the hose. Then you put a few teaspoons of gasoline down there and it drives them out. You take a hook and just drop 'em in a sack. The secret is going with someone who knows what he's doing."

Cape man cited for excellence

CAPE GIRARDEAU— Martin G. Schnare of Cape Girardeau, district representative for Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL), recently was cited for his excellent sales and service to members. That achievement during fiscal year 1973 qualified him for the society's President's Club.

AAL is a fraternal life and health insurance society headquartered in Appleton, Wis. Life insurance in force among AAL's more than one million members throughout the U. S. exceeds $6.5 billion.

The performance was at the Mormon Tabernacle.

Rhyne is top salesman

Roy Rhyne, 312 Cravens St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rhyne Sr., 843 Lora St., was not only the top salesman in his insurance company's mid- continent division, but in the United States as well, during a recent special sales week. Rhyne, area manager for Combined Insurance Co., wrote 207 policies during one week and broke his personal weekly sales record. He also set a new regional daily sales record by selling 80 policies in one day. Rhyne has been with the company for three years.

Electricians attend course

PORTAGEVILLE— A National Electric Code course held its opening session Thursday night with professional electricians from Cape Girardeau to Blytheville, Ark., participating in discussions of practical applications and needs for a National Electric Code.

Fred M. Crawford, a specialist in farm and home electrification, interpreted the needs and means of having fire resistant construction of homes and other buildings. He stated that the code represents the best material from the brains of the industry.

Milton Kelley of Kelley Electric in Kennett and Richard Barnes, code enforcement officer from Blytheville, contributed information from their experience in the field. Barnes told the group taking the course that 26 states presently adhere to the code.

Occupational Safety and Health Act requirements for all buildings were discussed. Crawford shared 1974 stipulations which must be met in order to comply with OSHA regulations.

Enrollees are still being accepted for the course which is to meet each Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m. through May 23. A certificate from the University of Missouri Extension Division will be presented to each student who attends a minimum of five sessions.

INDUSTRY WASTES FUEL

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP) — The amount of fuel used to produce compressed air that is wasted by industry would heat a community of some 200,000 persons for a year, according to a survey made here.

"About 10 per cent of the compressed air used by 1.2 million industrial and service establishments in the United States is being lost, according to our plant surveys," says Donald Sicklesteel, vice president of Scovill's Fluid Power Division, a maker of air control equipment.

By CROCKETT SCOTT

"An honest man's word is as good as his bond."

....Cervantes

From Chicago and Cleveland bond houses comes word that now may be a propitious time to buy deeply discounted bonds for long-term appreciation, as well as interest.

YOUR SEC- registered representative could go down the list of better quality corporates and municipals to help you make a selection.

With the stock market continuing to tread water, bonds of moderate to better quality have appeal as a relatively safe place for funds, in the opinion of seasoned investment counselors.

A Kansas City investment analyst cautions that the bond buyer should talk to a bond specialist, however, to assure that he is getting the best quality available for his money.

He likes municipals particularly at this time, when the money generated is to be used to build a facility for a top- rated corporation.

This representative called attention to a new municipal bond issue which has been mentioned recently by the investment banking firm of Howard, Weil, Labouisse, Freidrichs, Inc., of New Orleans.

It is a tax- free municipal for East Baton Parish, La., a $110 million issue to finance pollution control equipment for Exxon Corp. The bonds which were scheduled to come to market on April 24th were to be rated AAA by both Standard & Poor's and Moody's, with a probable yield of 5.75 per cent or higher.

For persons in a 28 per cent income tax bracket, these bonds actually yield 7.9 per cent; for a 38 per cent bracket, the yield is 9.27 per cent; for a 50 per cent bracket, the yield is 11.50 per cent; for a 62 per cent bracket, 15.13 per cent.

Howard Weil says these bonds are the highest tax free securities ever issued in Louisiana, except public housing authority bonds.

Thus, as can be seen, this opportunity is exceptional from the standpoint of both interest earned and safety; in that the funds are to be used for such a gilt- edge corporation as Exxon.

Electric utility bonds is another area of investment which some St. Louis investment banking firms like currently, despite high interest rates.

Thus bond houses note that the newer bonds and the very new--- the new issues with high premiums and old bonds selling at deep discounts— both are potentially good if the utilities are serving growing substantially sound industrial or agricultural communities.

The high cost of labor and the high cost of money, of course, cut into profits of utilities, just as they do to other industrial enterprise; though the cost of money particularly has a direct bearing on an expanding utility in which profits are controlled by a state authority.

Utility preferreds and common stocks also are deeply depressed; and in the view of numerous professionals, worthy of consideration for possible purchase.

Where the market goes from this point forward very well may be dependent upon the eventual outcome of the Mideast turbulence, in the opinion of a great many Midwestern stock market analysts.

The rate of inflation may have a more immediate effect on the stock market, it is concluded. But the outcome of the Mideast impasse is basic to the control of inflation, it is reminded. A flare- up in the fighting, and with it the threat of a world war, could obliterate all hope for controlling the buying power of currencies every place on the globe.

Bell Telephone to increase pensions

To help retired employes cope with inflation, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s board of directors has approved a special increase in pensions, according to Mike Smith, manager of the firm's operations in Sikeston who said the increase will be paid to all retired employes whose pensions were in effect Dec. 31, 1973, and will be retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year.

Pensioners will receive the first payment at the end of May, when they also will receive the four- month increase to cover the January to April retroactive amount.

More than 11,600 Southwestern Bell retirees are affected.

The special increases will be .3 per cent of a retired employe's current pension for each full or partial month of retirement from Oct. 1, 1971 to Dec. 31, 1973.

Heath named to Mizzou council

COLUMBIA — Ken Heath of Bertrand, a farmer, is among 31 Missourians appointed by University of Missouri President C. Brice Ratchford to serve on a state advisory council for extension during 1974.

Ratchford said the statewide group will advise the vice president for extension, Dr. Carl N. Scheneman in the development of future program emphases.

The university is currently undergoing an extensive institutional reappraisal to develop long range planning goals. All three functions of the four-campus university -- campus instruction,, research and extension -- are being evaluated and academic plans are being developed.

EAST PRAIRIE — Home- baked cakes have long been the favorite dessert and between meal snacks for my three menfolk. While I'm not an expert in the baking field, they always seem to enjoy the end result of my efforts and manage to devour a cake before it hardly has time to cool for icing. This may be due in part to my not baking quite as often as I did before becoming a working homemaker.

I marvel at homemakers who can use the pinch and dab method of measuring when baking, but for me, I have to exactly follow the recipe, a holdover I suspect from Home Ec during my high school days under Mrs. Ruby Franks. While I sometimes use the convenient cake mixes, it's more rewarding to see my own "scratch" cake turn out with eye-appeal and good taste. What better compliment can you receive than "Mom, cut me another piece."

Shirley Pritchett

YELLOW SPONGE CAKE
five eggs
½ cup cold water
1½ cup flour
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp salt
3/4 tsp. cream of tartar

Beat egg yolks, add water and beat four minutes; add sugar and beat another minute. Add sifted dry ingredients, then fold in beaten egg whites to which cream of tartar has been added.

Bake one hour in tube pan at 325 degrees. Let hang one hour before removing from pan and icing.

100 DOLLAR CAKE
½ cup butter
2 cups sugar
2 whole eggs
1 heaping tsp. soda dissolved in ¼ cup warm water
2/3 cup cocoa dissolved in ½ cup boiling water
1 cup buttermilk
2½ cups flour
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla.

Bake at 320 degrees in loaf pan, 350 degrees if using layer pans until springy. Nuts may also be added.

ICING FOR 100 DOLLAR CAKE
4 tbp. softened butter
1 whole egg
½ cup cocoa
1 box powdered sugar

Mix above and soften with enough milk to make proper consistency for spreading. Add 1 tsp. vanilla and 1 cup chopped nuts.

This recipe for Applesauce Cake is another which is good unfrosted or frosted. It's very tasty and moist and will keep at least a week. (Anywhere but at my house.)

APPLESAUCE CAKE
½ cup butter
1½ cups sugar
3 eggs
2 cups sifted flour
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cloves
1½ cups applesauce
1 cup chopped dates
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Add to egg mixture with rest of ingredients and mix well. Pour into well- greased 10 inch tube pan and bake at 325 degrees for 50 minutes.

Lazy Daisy topping can turn your favorite recipe, cake mix, or bakery cake into something a little special.

LAZY DAISY CAKE TOPPING
1 cup shredded coconut
2/3 cup brown sugar
1/3 cup evaporated milk
2 tablespoons melted butter
9-inch square baked cake

Mix coconut, sugar, milk and butter. Spread over top of cake and place under the broiler until brown and bubbling.

BUSY-DAY CAKE
1/3 cup salad oil
1 3/4 cups sifted cake flour
3/4 cup sugar
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 egg
3/4 cup milk
1½ tsp. vanilla

Sift together four, ½ cup sugar, baking powder and salt. Add salad oil, milk, and vanilla; stir till all flour is dampened, then beat until satin smooth (2 minutes at medium speed on mixer). Beat egg till thick and light (3 mins. at high speed on mixer). Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar, beating constantly. Fold egg mixture thoroughly into batter and bake in paper-lined 9x9x3 pan in 375- degree oven about 25 minutes.

OH AND AH CAKE
3 one-oz. squares of unsweetened chocolate
1 cup boiling water
1 tsp. red food color
1½ tsp. baking soda
½ cup shortening
2 cups sugar
½ tsp. salt
3 eggs
2½ cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sour cream

Melt chocolate in boiling water. Add food coloring and baking soda; cream shortening, sugar, salt and eggs until fluffy. Add flour alternately with cream. Add chocolate mixture and beat at medium speed for one minute.

Pour into greased and floured 13x9x2 inch pan and bake for 45 minutes in 350-degree oven.

Your favorite chocolate icing or the following caramel icing is delicious on this cake.

CARAMEL ICING
2 cups brown sugar
¼ tsp. salt
¼ cup butter
2/3 cup milk
2 tsp. vanilla
2 tablespoon cream.

Mix sugar, salt, butter and milk together and stir until boiling; continue boiling until it reaches the soft ball stage (234 degrees). Cool until luke warm.

Put into small mixing bowl and beat until thickened. Add vanilla and cream and continue beating until of spreading consistency. If a thicker icing is desired, beat in a little sifted confectioner's sugar.

The basic ingredient in this Rainbow Cake recipe is a box of yellow cake mix. Fruit-flavored gelatin of your choice adds a new twist and varies the coloring and flavor. Try cherry gelatin for a Washington's birthday cake and, for the Irish, lime gelatin with a green tinted frosting adds much to a St. Patrick's Day theme.

RAINBOW CAKE
1 box yellow cake mix
3 oz. box lemon gelatin
3/4 cup water
½ cup salad oil
4 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
juice of one lemon
pinch of salt.

Beat all ingredients until smooth and creamy (about three minutes). Pour into greased 10-inch tube pan and bake for 45-50 minutes in 350-degree oven.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE CAKE
2/3 cup soft butter or margarine
1 3/4 cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
2½ 1-oz squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2½ cups sifted cake flour
1¼ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
1¼ cups ice water

Cream together butter, sugar, eggs and vanilla till fluffy (beat five minutes at high speed on mixer, scraping bowl occasionally to guide batter into beaters; or beat five minutes by hand). Blend in cooled chocolate. Sift together flour, soda and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with ice water beginning and ending with flour; beat after each addition.

Bake in 2 paper- lined 9-inch round pans for 30-35 minutes in 350-degree oven.

CHOCOLATE SATIN FROSTING
3½ one-oz squares unsweetened chocolate
3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar
4½ tablespoons hot water
1 egg
½ cup soft butter or margarine
1½ tsp. vanilla

Melt chocolate in mixing bowl over hot water. Remove from heat. With electric mixer blend in sugar and water. Beat in egg, then butter and vanilla. Frosting will be thin at this point, so place bowl in ice water; beat till spreading consistency. Will frost tops and sides of two 9-inch layers.

Fish fillets are served with noodles

FISH FILLETS PAPRIKA

6 fresh or frozen fish fillets, 1 to 1¼ pounds
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
2 medium tomatoes, each cut into 6 wedges
Salt and pepper
4 ounces medium egg noodles, about 4 cups
8-ounce container sour cream
1 tablespoon paprika

Thaw fish if frozen. Roll up each fillet and secure with toothpicks. Place rolls flat on well-greased broiler-pan rack; brush with butter. Place tomato wedges on rack; brush with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat source for 5 to 7 minutes. Carefully turn rolls and brush with butter; broil until fish flakes easily and looks opaque — 5 to 8 minutes longer; remove picks. Meanwhile cook noodles according to package directions and drain; over low heat toss noodles with sour cream and paprika; serve with fish and tomatoes. Makes 6 servings.

Oranges, celery used in salad

MOLDED ORANGE-CELERY SALAD

1 package (3 ounces) orange-flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
3/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup lemon juice
1 cup finely diced celery
Salad greens and commercial sour cream

In a medium mixing bowl add the boiling water to the gelatin and stir until dissolved. Stir in the orange and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened; fold in celery. Ladle into 6 one-half cup molds or 6-ounce custard cups. Chill until firm. Unmold; garnish with salad greens; top with sour cream. Makes 6 servings.

Coffee Corner by Cherie

Well, Spring has come to our neck of the woods again; and again, like each and every year I am once more awed by the sight, and the sound, and the smell, and the feel of her. How can anyone who's ever paused to look at a cluster of dogwood trees bursting into bloom as they do all over our state; how can they listen to a cardinal happily calling to his mate one morning with the dew still sparkling on the blades of grass outside their window; how could one breath in the scent of tulips and jasmine with their delicate aroma; or how could one touch a fern or feel a raindrop on one's face and not know God.

Surely, here in the Spring of each year, even the most non-believer must feel somewhere a stirring and a pulsing in his blood that quickens at the sight of a new born calf struggling to his feet for the first time, or, as he watches a bird carrying wisps of straw and string back and forth to make a nest- surely, even that non-believer must know God, by whatever name he chooses to give Him. And, if one takes the time to look, is Spring really any more beautiful than a snowflake in the Winter; or a tree turned golden in the Autumn; or a fish breaking the placid stillness of a lake in Summer? Isn't it true that no matter what the season, or where you look you are constantly faced with the miracle of Creation; for everywhere, in all the lands, there are children, and are they not the most supreme miracle of all? Now, you close your eyes; now, open them again to all the world — I ask you, do you not know God?

Nutrition note: The amount of calcium in the following foods is about the same: 1½ cups ice cream; 1 cup milk (whole, skim or buttermilk); 1½ ounces cheddar cheese; 1 1-3 cups cottage cheese.
